

AWAIT TO COME OF RUSSIA'S ATTEMPT IN THE CARPATHIANS

ALTHOUGH FRENCH CONDUCT SUSTAINED OFFENSIVE TO DISLODGE GERMANS FROM ST. MIHEL, ATTEMPT TO FORCE BARRIER IS MOST IMPORTANT.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY WEAK PLACE

If This Is Broken, Less Loss of Life Will Result Than in First Contemplated Spring Attack in France and Belgium—Operations Continue at Dardanelles.

London, April 6, 10:35 p. m.—Although the French are conducting a sustained and somewhat formidable offensive between the Meuse and the Moselle, in an effort to dislodge the Germans from St. Mihiel, the southernmost point of their line, the demeanor of the allied armies as a whole indicates a disposition to await the outcome of Russia's gigantic plan to force the Carpathian barrier.

Germany is thought to be pouring troops into Hungary even to the extent of weakening her forces in Flanders and tonight's Austrian official communication notes the presence and recounts the success of German and Austrian troops in the Laborca valley.

There is less talk in England of the spring advance of the allies in France and Belgium and an increasing appreciation of the task Russia is attempting. This leads to the belief in some quarters that the leaders of the allied armies in the east, reckoning on the heavy cost incident to pushing the German line there, may perhaps seek only to hold their ground in the belief that the Russians will succeed in invading Hungary, ultimately to join hands with the allied forces working northward through Serbia.

Thus what their opponents regard as the weakest of the Teutonic allies, Austria-Hungary, is being invaded without the loss of life that an attempt to drive the Germans from France and Belgium would entail.

Meanwhile, it is argued the bombardment of the Dardanelles will be continuous as the shortest, if the most costly method of crushing Turkey. Reports that Smyrna has again been bombed lack official confirmation and the absence of news from the Dardanelles is taken by some to mean that important operations are under way, the details of which later will be made known.

British forces in occupying Warrad, German Southwest Africa, as officially announced, have taken what is considered the southern capital and the terminus of the railway system.

Excluding active military operations, the questions of munitions and alcohol dominate the public mind in Great Britain. Lord Kitchener, secretary of war, took an important step tonight by the appointment of a committee whose duty it shall be to round up labor sufficient to produce munitions commensurate with the tremendous demand and the temperance agitation which is doing its effect of increasing the productivity of labor in general.

What the government proposes to do with the liquor problem probably will not be disclosed until parliament reassembles in April, but the idea of general prohibition just at present is not seriously entertained. The authorities seem to hope that the desired results will be obtained by voluntary abstinence coupled with further restrictions on saloons.

Bulgaria and Serbia have exchanged notes which on the surface appear to end the recent border incidents, but official Serbia, as London insists that the latest outbreak was engineered from Bulgaria and that Austrians as well as Turks were found among the dead raiders.

To Examine Levee Districts in State

Austin, Tex., April 6.—State Reclamation Engineer Arthur Stiles leaves tomorrow for north Texas, where he will make a field examination of a number of levee districts proposed to be organized under the features of the new levee district law recently approved by the governor. He will examine a new district on Red river in Cooke county and other proposed districts on the Trinity.

He then goes to Dallas, where he will have a conference with the chief officer of the federal engineering department on the question of approving plans for all levees to be built, hereafter on the Trinity river. Under recent ruling of the department at Washington approval by the national government must be obtained in all levee improvements in Texas.

SUMMARY OF WAR

It is still on the Carpathian mountains that the most important fighting is in progress. The Russians have crossed the principal chain in the region of the Rostok and occupied two villages on the slopes on the Hungarian side of the mountain. This chain is made by the Russian war office, which asserts that it will along this front the Russians have continued to make progress.

The assertions of Petrograd are not borne out by the Austrian official statement which declares that in conjunction with German forces the Austrians have captured two strong positions on the heights east of the Laborca valley and repulsed strong Russian attacks in nearby sectors, capturing 2,570 prisoners. In addition Vienna says that on the Danube river two Russian battalions have been annihilated.

To the north in Poland only desultory fighting is going on in the vicinity of the East Prussian frontier. In the west Paris reports "appreciable progress" for the allies in the occupation of the village of Gussainville near Verdun and advances to the southward of that fortress. The headquarters of

GERMANY HAS BUT 2 MILION MEN SAYS A FRENCH ARMY REVIEW

ACTUALLY 9,000,000, BUT THIS INCLUDES MEN EMPLOYED IN RAILWAYS AND OTHER WORK. SICKNESS AND OLD AGE HAS REDUCED CONSIDERABLY.

PUTS ALL EGGS IN ONE BASKET

This Is Way Officials Express Condition of Kaiser's Troops—France Has Many Provisions and Munitions Accumulated, According to Statement—Production to Increase.

(Correspondence of Associated Press.) London, March 27.—Further installments of the French official review of the French army after six months of war have been obtained by the Associated Press. The sixth installment deals with supplies and the seventh installment takes up the situation of the German army and makes an analysis of the German forces in the field available.

"The methodical and complete exploitation of all the resources of the country," says the review, "organized since the beginning of the war has enabled us to accumulate a considerable stock of fresh munitions and an increasing rate of production is henceforth assured. We are thus sure of being able to provide, without particular effort for all the needs of the campaign, present and future, however long the war may last, and it is this certainty which has enabled us to bring the projectiles to several of the allied armies, among others to the Serbian and Belgian armies. From the statements of German prisoners, we have learned that the effectiveness of our new projectiles is superior to that of the old ones."

"In the seventh section, the review turns to a discussion of the situation of the German army, which it deems to be the initiative and direction of the war in the marked defeat of the battle of Flanders." Germany had put sixty-nine army corps in the field by January, 1915, in the supreme effort to crush decisively her adversaries before their mobilization was complete," the review says and continues:

All Eggs in One Basket. "She had, in the words of the proverb, put all her eggs in one basket and in spite of her large population she could no longer, owing to the immediate and sterile absorption she had made of her resources, pretend to retain the superiority of numbers."

"She was reduced to facing as best she could on both war fronts the unceasing increasing forces of the allies. She had attained the maximum of tension and had secured a minimum of results. She had thus landed herself in a difficulty which will henceforth be an increasing anxiety which is made clear by the vastage which her army has suffered is closely stated."

Chapter two of this section of the review bears the headline, "Wastage of German Effectives." "The wastage of effectives is easy to establish," it says. "We have for the purpose two sources, the official report of losses published by the German general staff and the notebooks of letters and archives of soldiers and officers killed and taken prisoners. These definite documents show that by the middle of January the German losses on the two fronts were 1,500,000 men."

Some Losses Not Included. "These figures are certainly less than the reality, because for one thing the sick are not comprised, and for another the losses in the last battle in Poland are not included. Let us accept then, however, these figures as a basis. That out of these 1,500,000 men, 500,000—this the normal proportion—have been able to rejoin after being cured. Thus the final loss for five months of the campaign has been 1,000,000 men or 250,000 effectives."

"What then is the situation created by these enormous losses?" This question is answered by a statement headed "German troops available for 1915." "The total of German formations known at the beginning of January," states the review, "represented, in round numbers, 4,000,000 men. According to the official reports on German recruiting the entire resources of Germany in men amount to 9,000,000. But from these 9,000,000 have to be deducted men employed on railways, in the police and in certain administrative and industrial, altogether 500,000 men. The total resources available for the war, therefore, 8,500,000. Out of these about one-half, say 4,000,000 men, are now at the front. The available losses represent at least 1,300,000."

Lord Kitchener has decided to wait no longer for the workmen of Great Britain to voluntarily take up the task of manufacturing munitions of war necessary for the prosecution of the combat and has appointed a committee to obtain sufficient labor for this purpose.

The independent labor party in annual convention at Norwich, England, cheered a suggestion that there be a truce between Great Britain and Germany with the object of settling the war.

The French press bureau asserts that from figures compiled from official German casualties lists it has been ascertained that since the war began the Germans have lost over half of their officers.

CARRANZA WILL NOT AGREE TO CAPITAL BEING REINFORCED

NO DEFINITE ANSWERS RECEIVED TO AMERICAN NOTE, BUT PRELIMINARY REPORTS TO STATE DEPARTMENT SO INDICATE—PASSAGE IS POSSIBLE.

MATAMOROS IS REINFORCED

Small Body of Troops Come to Assistance of Garrison Across from Brownsville—Sharp Fighting Before Arrival, but None Shot in Dash Through Lines.

Washington, April 6.—Intimations have come to the American government that General Carranza will not consent to the neutralization of Mexico City as proposed and agreed to by the Villa-Zapata forces.

No definite answer has as yet been received to the American note on the subject sent to the two factions, but preliminary reports to the state department indicate that General Carranza is unwilling to accept the proposal. It is believed, however, that arrangements may be made for uninterrupted passage of trains to and from Mexico City and Vera Cruz though a decision on this question also has not been reached by Carranza.

The state department's summary of the military situation in Mexico was as follows: "The department is in receipt of advices dated April 4, stating that General Carranza is at a place thirty kilometers south of Irapuato. It is reported he has an army of 20,000 men. The army of General Carranza is preparing to leave Irapuato at noon on the 4th and expecting to come into contact with the forces of Obregon on the morning of the 5th. General Carranza is reported to have been brought to Mexico and Obregon is reported on the morning of the 4th to take personal charge of the operations."

"The department's latest advices from Yucatan indicate that everything is going on as planned. General Carranza has sailed from Progreso to St. Yago on March 29, with 2,000 men of the American tug Forward, which was employed by General Carranza, arrived at Progreso last Wednesday. General Carranza is reported to be at Valladolid; he claims a victory over the Ortiz forces and states that they were dispersed. However, on March 29, Carranza is reported to be in the southeast part of the state."

Smallpox at Progreso. "Some cases of smallpox at Progreso were reported via wireless on April 1, one case occurred at Progreso. There were still six cases and eight suspects, all under guard. Later advices state that the railroad of Yucatan have been taken over by General Carranza, who has appointed officials of his own. It is reported that the railroad are not operating as well as they were previously. Passenger traffic on the main line is operating, but freight traffic is reduced."

"Some fighting has occurred in the eastern part of Yucatan state and several soldiers are occasionally brought to Progreso. General Carranza has left Progreso. Four ships were loading sisal on April 3 and there was no interference with commerce. The Yucatan sailed for Progreso on March 21, with 2,000 bales of sisal on board."

General Carranza telegraphed his agency here today that General Salvador Alvarado, military governor of Yucatan, had won the confidence of the people and was enthusiastically welcomed when he recently made a tour of the principal towns of the state.

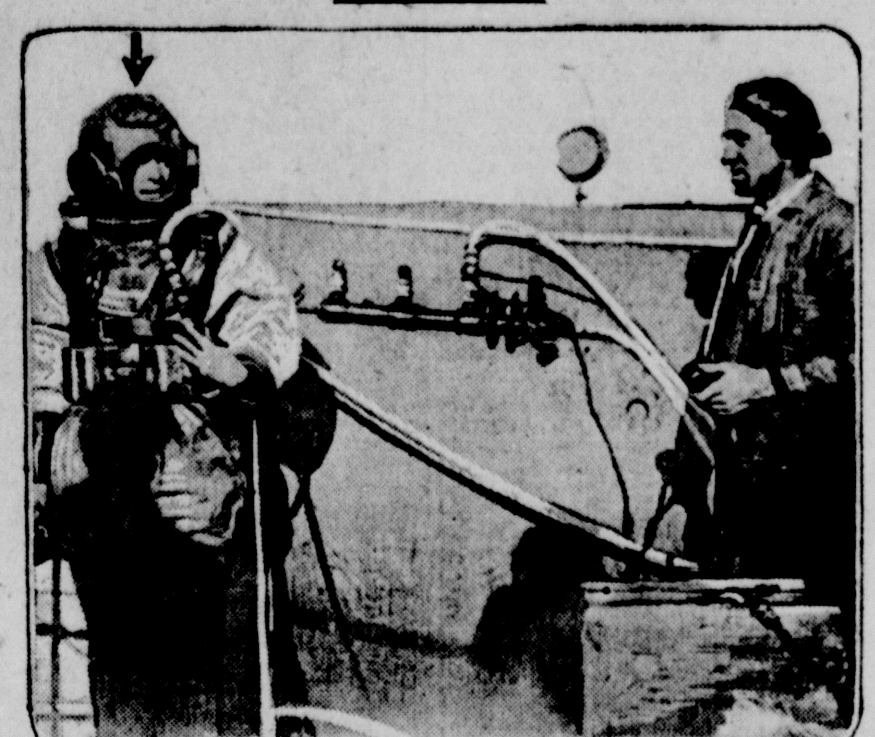

An aerial telegram from Carranza, dated today at Vera Cruz, said: "Reactionaries headed by Villa and Zapata only hold the following: 'Chihuahua, Durango, Zacatecas, Aguas Calientes, capital of San Luis Potosi, Morelos and part of Sonora and scattered portions of Coahuila, Nuevo Leon, Jalisco and territory of Tepic. All the rest of the republic, which is the greatest territory, is entirely in our possession.'"

Matamoros Is Reinforced. Brownsville, Tex., April 6.—Arrival of a small body of reinforcements to the Matamoros garrison was announced by Carranza officers here today. Sharp fighting was heard shortly before these reinforcements rode in on horseback, but apparently none of the cavalymen were shot in their dash between the widely separated Villa camps surrounding Matamoros. Carranza's reinforcements were said to have come from Victoria, 200 miles south. The garrison today was busy extending a railroad track along the river bank for a few weeks ago, toward the end of the entrenchments opposite the American shore. It appeared possible that box cars filled with dirt might be run up this track as a fortification against an attack up the river bank. Such cars might also shield Brownsville somewhat from bullets.

The Villa field artillery trains advanced a little nearer to Matamoros today, passing Reynosa, sixty miles west of the invested city. How fast they would cover the remaining sixty miles depended on the repairs to the railroad, which the Carranza troops tore up a few weeks ago. Gen. Precipio Elizondo, one of the wounded men of the Carranza garrison, was released by Texas authorities today and sent back to Matamoros. He had been arrested charged with the murder of State Ranger Emmett Roebuck here in 1902, and the shooting of J. Y. Baker, now sheriff of Hidalgo county, Texas. He was discharged because no complaint today against him appeared when he appeared in a habeas corpus proceeding. He entered court on a stretcher.

Mrs. Lydia Drouett of Houston, head nurse of the Red Cross hospital here, said she has one patient, a wounded Villa soldier, shot directly through the brain, who will recover.

NOTED DEEP SEA DIVER WHO WILL FIND LOST SUBMARINE

Washington, April 7.—The navy department is determined to raise the sunken American submarine F-4 at all costs. She lies 300 feet deep off Honolulu, and in her are entombed her crew of twenty-one officers and men. Secretary Daniels has sent expert divers to locate the craft and place slings on her so that she can be raised. The leading diver in the party is George Criley, who once went down 270 feet in Long Island Sound. Criley is standing at the left in the illustration.

FERGUSON VETOES WAREHOUSE BILL: GIVES HIS REASONS

Austin, Tex., April 6.—Governor Ferguson today vetoed the house bill which had for its object the construction and maintenance of warehouses and their operation under the general state laws, and exempt them from the provisions of the permanent warehouse law. In vetoing the bill the governor said:

"The state already having assumed control and supervision of warehouses, I do not think any concern doing this character of business should be exempt from the general law covering the same subject. Equal rights to all and special privileges to none seems to be very pertinent to the consideration of this law."

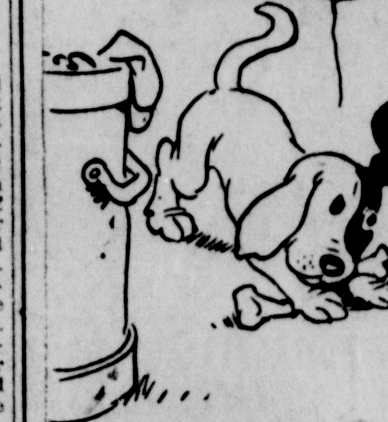

The governor signed the bill which authorizes mutual assessment and accident insurance companies to place an admission fee of not exceeding $3 each in the expense fund. This bill becomes effective at once.

Daring Holdup in Kaw City, Oklahoma

Kaw City, Okla., April 6.—Three men entered the Farmers' National bank here late today, held up the cashier, John Hofer, and his assistant, Arthur Sanderson, at the point of revolvers, took $2,000 all the available cash, locked the bank officers in the vault and rode away toward the Osage hills to the east. The bankers had a contrivance in the inside of the vault by which they could open the door. They gave the alarm and tonight a large posse is following the robbers.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY HAS GLOOMY OUTLOOK SAYS REP. METZ

Washington, April 6.—A gloomy view of the immediate future of the American textile industry was presented at the White House and the state department today by a committee representing 400 mills, and headed by former Representative Metz of New York. Unless some relaxation of the recent British blockade order in council is obtained and German dyestuffs reach them within six weeks time, Mr. Metz declared 250 mills will be forced to close and 250,000 operatives be thrown out of work.

No great hope was held out to the textile men by government officials. The situation is complicated in the extreme and while unofficial negotiations are in progress with the British government, apparently there is little prospect of framing an agreement that will be satisfactory to both Great Britain and Germany.

Under a previous agreement with Germany ships carrying American cotton to German ports were permitted to bring back dyestuff cargoes. The new British order however, has struck at this traffic in both directions and officials of the ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, suggested that there would be no further trouble about dyestuffs shipments if they could get the United States to threaten an embargo on exports of raw cotton to Great Britain, unless interference with trade between America and Germany in foodstuffs, cotton and other non-contraband goods ceased.

The ambassador reiterated the recent declaration of the Berlin foreign office of Germany's willingness to discontinue the sinking without notice by submarines of British merchantmen if Great Britain would stop molesting non-contraband cargoes consigned to German civilians.

Whether the much-wanted dyestuffs could be obtained, the ambassador insisted, depended entirely upon whether the American government made such vigorous protests to Great Britain that they must be yielded to. England he said, would soon stop interfering with legitimate commerce if the prospect of guns and ammunition from the United States being cut off were placed before the allies.

Aerial Insanity is Demonstrated by Art Smith at Exposition

San Francisco, April 6.—"Art" Smith, a young Chicago aviator, yesterday gave an exhibition of what he himself calls "aerial insanity" at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Smith appeared to lose all control of his machine and rolled and tossed about in a gale that swept in through the Golden Gate. His biplane tumbled over and over, forward and backward, and dipped sideways, but always under the control of the aviator. He looped the loop twenty-one times.

Spectators believed Smith was about to meet the fate of Lincoln Beachey, but he descended unharmed.

ALLIED SHIPS ARE NEED IN PORT FOR CRUISER TO ESCAPE PULLMAN PORTERS

BELIEVED AT NEWPORT NEWS THAT PRINZ EITEL FRIEDRICH MUST LEAVE BY 11:40 THIS MORNING OR BE INTERFERED BY THE UNITED STATES.

ACTION AROUSES THE BRITISH

No Tug Will Be Permitted to Take Merchant Ships of Allies Out of the Harbor—Dash for Open Sea Is Still Expected by Observers—Fleet of Allied Cruisers Awaits Just Outside.

Newport News, Va., April 6.—The way for the German merchant raider, Prinz Eitel Friedrich to leave neutral waters was cleared today by the United States government.

Orders were given to pilots not to take the merchant ship of any belligerent enemy of Germany out of Norfolk and Newport News until further notice. The order went into effect about 11 o'clock today following a dispatch by British authorities last night to British captains not to clear their ships after noon on any day.

The government's action served to arouse the British authorities considerably, particularly when appeals for information as to when the pilotage man would be lifted met with no explanation. Although no official interpretation of the government order could be procured it generally was understood that the time had expired which had been allotted for the Prinz Eitel Friedrich for repairs and that merchant ships of belligerents had been detained in port in order to extend liberty for departure to the German raider.

First Definite Step.

Today's action was the first definite step by the United States to open the course to the sea for the Prinz Eitel since the holding up of British ships last Friday. It was learned today, having been the result of direct action of the British government in which the United States had no part.

Whether the German commander would take advantage of the opportunity afforded him to get back to the high seas could not be ascertained. Conflicting rumors still persisted. Some were to the effect that the ship would attempt to dash by the British and French warships lying in wait for her off the cape, while other maintained that the commerce destroyer had been interned at noon today and would be taken to the Norfolk navy yard.

Reports that the ship actually had been interned were given little credence because of the continued activity of American government officials in watching developments. The navy's control of the ship yard continued, while the battleship Alabama maintained her vigil in Hampton Roads as the guardian of neutrality.

Hold Seven Ships in Port.

The order to the pilots held in port about seven ships, among them a Belgian relief vessel, Canadian King, and the Russian steamer Altai. The others are British grain and horse ships.

The last British ship left port at 11:40 Monday morning. It was the British relief vessel, Canadian King, and the Russian steamer Altai. The others are British grain and horse ships. Next Meeting of College Press to Be Held at Abilene

Denton, Tex., April 6.—Simmons College of Abilene was announced as the next place of meeting of the Texas College Press Association, which met in annual convention with the North Texas Normal School in Denton, April 1 and 2.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: A. C. Miller of Simmons College, president; Horace Jones, Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, vice president; Miss Clara Guseley, College of Industrial Recording Secretary; Miss Mildred Paxton, Simmons College, corresponding secretary; W. Angle Smith, Southwestern University, treasurer. President F. M. Bailey of the College of Industrial Arts delivered the annual address, the convention speaking on the subject, "Practical Phases of College Press Club Work."

J. A. Rucker Takes Poison in a Fort Worth Hotel

Fort Worth, Tex., April 6.—J. A. Rucker, young attorney who has been making his home recently at Temple and who is a nephew of former United States Senator Bailey, drank poison in a local hotel this morning. He was found dead. Deafness, which was pronounced incurable, is given in a note he left behind as the cause for his suicide.

Wires Friends at Temple.

Temple, Tex., April 6.—A telegram received here today shortly after noon from Fort Worth was the first intimation that Mrs. J. R. Rucker of this city had of the tragic death of her son J. Aubrey Rucker, a young man about 24 years of age, which occurred at Fort Worth this morning.

Shortly before the mother received the fatal telegram two neighbors and close friends of the family were also delivered telegrams, both of which were from young Rucker at Fort Worth, and to the effect that he requested they go to his mother at once, as she would soon need the benefit of their assistance and sympathy.

Be-wildered by the unexpected message, both ladies at once sought to ascertain what was meant thereby and shortly afterward the matter was made plain by the last telegram, addressed to the mother which conveyed the news of her son's death. On two dollars in funeral arrangements will be completed after its arrival.

TIPS NECESSARY WITH SMALL WAGES SAY PULLMAN PORTERS

If Tipping Law Is Passed, Man with $2 in Pockets Would Not Be Safe, Says One—Conductors Declare Considered Proper for Them to Knock Down on Seat Sales to Pay Expenses

Chicago, April 6.—Pullman sleeping car porters went on the witness stand before the United States commission on industrial relations today and told the commission just what the tipping system means to them.

It means bread and butter. They couldn't pay expenses on the road with the salaries, to say nothing of paying rents and maintaining families, they said.

There was other interesting testimony including a statement that Pullman car conductors do not consider it dishonest to "knock down" on seat sales enough to pay their expenses on the road. These average thirty dollars a month and come out of salaries ranging from $70 to $95 a month.

The witness who made this statement was H. H. Sewell, of Chicago, a former conductor.

The first of the porters to testify was Tom S. Crenshaw, who works on a sleeper running between St. Louis and Savannah, Ill., and who has done so for twenty-one years. His salary is $42 a month.

"Well, what do you make in tips?" asked Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission.

"About $75 a month," replied Crenshaw.

"So, altogether, you get about $117 a month," calculated the chairman. "Have you a family?"

"Yes, sir, wife, four children, two married and I take care of my mother. The children not married are in school."

"You have been frugal, then?"

"No, sir, we have lived pretty well."

"But, at first the tips were not so generous, perhaps," went on Mr. Walsh.

"No, sir, but as soon as they found out the kind of man I was—"

Laughter Interrupts.

Laughter interrupted the witness at this point and he did not finish. He explained that there were many wealthy people living along the line he travels.

"You mean right and handle them right and they don't forget you," he said.

"Do you think any porter would get along as well as you do on this run?" asked Mr. Walsh.

"No, sir, I wish; some men would starve on this run."

The witness considered his a fair average run, except that the lay over hours were extra charges.

The next witness was G. H. Sylvester, of New York, a porter on the Twentieth Century Limited, between New York and Michigan Southern road. Sylvester wore a check pattern suit and two diamond rings glittered on his little finger.

"His salary," he said, is $72.50 a month and tips average about $77 a month. He is a veteran and has been on the road for thirteen years.

His train leaves New York in the afternoon and arrives in Chicago the next morning and under the rules he is not entitled to any sleep except what he gets during the lay-over.

"But don't let any of them tell you that you don't sleep," he said with a grin. "The man that tells you he don't sleep is a dangerous man. I don't mean that we go to bed, but we nod when we are supposed to be on guard in the aisle. All the superintendents here know that."

Against Rule to Sleep. "But it is against the rule," suggested Mr. Walsh.

"They don't care about that, all they care about is that we don't get caught asleep," he said. "It's instinct and the car really is guarded."

SHOULD WEEP AS CITIES GROW BIG

Declared Scientist—New Factor in Life of City People Is Vitality.

That the human race is decaying, particularly that portion of it living in cities, is the contention of several noted scientists. At a meeting of those most prominent in America at Battle Creek, Mich., the speaker declared: "Cities boast of their growth of population, when they should be weeping. This may be pessimism, yet it is true that city dwellers, as a class, are debilitated, dyspeptic and anemic. Anything that will recuperate and restock their vitality can be nothing less than a world-blessing. The comparative recent discovery of crude Vitalitas and of the process of extracting its wonderful properties and forces in liquid form is fast bringing a new epoch in the treatment of ills with which city people suffer."

As a corrective and health promoting tonic Vitalitas is wonderfully effective. It literally sweeps away many ills of stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels and blood. Marvelous cures are constantly being reported from its use. It is all good and is pleasant to take. It should be in every home.

Kitchener's Influence in Egypt.
Hardly had I got through the customs when I was impressed with the fact that Egypt is a one-man country. On every side one hears this man's name: it's Kitchener this and Kitchener that. Before he came, Egypt was a religious state, fighting treacherous, many-headed snakes. Now it is different. The reason of it all is Khartoum. It was there that Major General Sir Herbert Kitchener taught them where to get their meals. There he threw their last spear into the Nile and made them promise to be good; but he had to kill 26,000 to make them see things his way. Near Khartoum the blacks made their last stand. When they surrendered and gave up their last spear and carbine, Kitchener set about making a nation of them.

When they came upon Mahmud, the leader, he was sitting on his prayer rug, his head bowed, his weapons about him, according to the customs of the desert. Kitchener, waiting for the victor's blow that would send his head rolling in the hot sand. When Kitchener told him to go back to camp and get something to eat he was more astonished than he was when told that the battle had gone against him.

From that day, seventeen years ago, Kitchener has been the most feared and best loved man in Egypt. Feared by the half-educated effendi and loved by the fellah. The peasant had his ear. Kitchener speaks Arabic, having learned it when he was in the Holy Land as director of the Palestine Exploration fund. He knew the people and sympathized with them as no other commander in Egypt had done.—Homer Croly in Leslies.

EIGHTH AND FRANKLIN

U. S. NOW RESTS IN THE BLOCKADE MATTER

HAS MADE ITS STAND CLEAN IN NOTES PUBLISHED OVER WORLD.

London and Paris Papers Approve the Wording of Communication.

Washington, April 6.—With the publication today of its note in reply to the British government's order in council proclaiming a virtual blockade against commerce to and from Germany, the American government rested its case. Great Britain now is looked to make the next move, and her course is awaited with the keenest interest in official and diplomatic circles here.

The note, though couched in the most friendly language, denies the right of Great Britain and her allies to block a neutral port and reiterates the intention of the United States to insist upon its rights. It declares that, to admit that right "would be to assume an attitude of neutrality toward the enemies of Great Britain which would be obviously inconsistent with the solemn obligations of this government in the present circumstances and Great Britain to make such a claim would be for her to abandon and set at naught the principles for which she consistently and earnestly has contended in other times and circumstances."

The communication takes notice of Great Britain's declaration that "the enforcement of the order is left largely to the discretion of the prize courts, the customs officers and the navy and the hope is expressed that the order will not be enforced in such a way as to prevent the free transit of neutral vessels from one neutral to another through the cordon of British warships."

"This government therefore," the note says, "informs that the commanders of its navy's ships of war engaged in maintaining the so-called blockade will be instructed to avoid an enforcement of the proposed measures of non-interference in such a way as to impose restrictions on neutral trade more burdensome than those which have been regarded as inevitable when the ports of a belligerent are actually blockaded by the ships of its enemy."

It then is added that many possibilities are seen for "serious interruption of American trade" which would "impose upon his majesty's government heavy responsibilities for the acts of the British authorities."

The note concludes with the hope that the British government "having considered these possibilities will take the steps necessary to avoid them, and in the event they should unhappily occur will be prepared to make full reparation for every act which, under the rules of international law, constitutes a violation of neutral rights."

London Paper Approves.
London, April 6.—The Post in an editorial says of the American reply to the British note:

"It is cordially conceived and is phrased in lucid, moderate and logical terms."

Reviewing both notes the Post regrets that Great Britain saw fit to plead that its action was necessary, as a reprisal for the actions of Germany, adding:

"The pretext was perhaps unfortunate. It laid open the British government to the ironical retort of course uttered by the United States that His Majesty's minister could not possibly be supposed to regard illegal action on their part as justified by illegal action on the part of others."

Paris Paper Favorable.
Paris, April 6.—The Journal des Debats in a long editorial commenting on the American note regarding the allies' blockade against Germany, says it is a well reasoned document and that France and Great Britain will be ready to compensate innocent neutrals for losses due to errors made by French and British ships. In concluding the editorial says:

"Why, instead of witnessing the combat as simple spectators, do not third parties throw themselves in the high-way robbers who have assailed innocent passersby? They would thus render homage to principle than by looking from right to left to see if there is not something to pick up."

Steamer Pleiades at New York.
New York, April 6.—The American steamer Pleiades, which left Savannah, Ga., April 4, Bremen with a cargo of cotton, arrived her tonight on her return voyage. Captain Pickett reported his steward was taken from his vessel by the German military authorities in Bremen and pressed into service as a German subject. The man was shipped at Savannah as a subject of Holland, the captain said.

Numerous mines in the North Sea were sighted by the Pleiades.

Calles Controls Nacozari Road.
Douglas, Ariz., April 6.—Gen. Calles, the Carranza chief in Sonora, now controls the Nacozari railroad through out its length and steps already have been taken to relieve the food shortage at Nacozari, El Estero and other mining camps where there are many Americans.

Harry Carlson, an American, whose residence is given as Hummelstown, Pa., is a prisoner at Agua Prieta. The Carranza authorities are holding him as an enemy of Carranza and serving in an armed Villa troop. He was arrested three weeks ago at Cumpas by Col. Samaniego.

Euterpean Club Recital.
Individual successes were scored by all the performers in the regular monthly recital of the Euterpean club, held last night in the Progress club rooms at Eighth and Austin. The numbers of the program were on the theme of nature in music. Performers included Miss Edith Adelman, Miss Mary Lou Bagby, Miss Amelia Iwine and Miss Emma Voss, piano; Mr. Anton Navratil, violin; Miss Stella Lacy, Mrs. Joseph G. Wren and Miss Fern Thurman, voice.

As a side line on the war it is interesting to note a violin manufactured in Japan has sent a shipment of violins recently to the United States, to fill an order for tens of thousands of them. These instruments formerly came from Germany and cost from three to eight dollars apiece.

DORMAN TO ADDRESS AD CLUB MEETING

EDUCATION COMMITTEE SE-
CURES MANAGER OF STRAT-TON SALE FOR THURSDAY.

"Special Sales as Legitimate Business Factors" Will be Subject Discussed.

Harry A. Dorman of San Francisco, who is in Waco conducting the sale of the Stratton furniture stock, has been invited to address the Waco Ad Club tomorrow evening at the Y. M. C. A. and to speak on "Special Sales as Legitimate Business Factors." J. W. Carlin, advertising manager for the Goldstein-Migel company, and member of the education committee in charge of the program, says he considers the securing of Mr. Dorman as a feature of extraordinary interest.

Two reasons are advanced why Mr. Dorman's address will be of unusual interest. He is a man known from coast to coast as a very successful sales manager and the matter of special sales has been discussed a great deal at and since the state convention recently held in Waco.

Mr. Dorman will not only talk interestingly of his own experiences as a successful sales manager but will bring out many points of unusual value to any business man who attends the meeting. The education committee feels that it is giving the members of the Waco Ad Club a real big time attraction.

Mr. Dorman was formerly advertising manager for the Simpson-Crawford Co., one of the largest department stores in New York, and enjoys the unique distinction of having prepared successful advertising copy when 13 years old. Since severing his connection with Simpson-Crawford he has engaged in the conducting of special sales in various parts of the country and has been extraordinarily successful with them. His remarks will be followed by general discussion, in which all members are invited to take part.

Roscoe Hornbaker Bound Over After Sensational Trial

Paola, Kas., April 6.—Roscoe Hornbaker was bound over to the district court late today for a charge of murder in connection with the death of Geo. McElheney, killed by a shot through the window of his home more than two years ago. McElheney was postmaster at Paola, Kas., where Hornbaker is a mail carrier. When the decision of Justice Willford to hold Hornbaker for trial came as a maximum to a sensational hearing in which Mrs. Maude McElheney, widow of the slain postmaster, as chief accuser of the mail carrier, admitted a close friendship with him both before and after her husband's death. According to her testimony Hornbaker had told her he wished to be freed from his life and have her a widow that he might marry her.

Bulgaria Claims
Not Responsible for Invasion Serbia
London, April 6.—The Bulgarian minister in London gave out the text today of a note from his government disclaiming responsibility for the recent invasion of Serbia for a force described as Bulgarian irregulars. The note repeats, in the main, what has already been set forth in dispatches from Sofia. It is said the uprising was initiated by Turks among the inhabitants of that part of Macedonia included in Serbia. The note says, in revolt, the note says, and fled to Bulgarian territory, pursued by Serbian troops.

"The Bulgarian frontier guards performed their duties conscientiously, trying to protect the Serbian posts," the note continues, "this makes it clear that the whole affair was one involving the Serbian authorities and the inhabitants of the affected regions."

"However, as the insurrection appears to be assuming considerable dimensions and might bring Serbian troops in proximity to the Bulgarian frontier, Bulgaria requests Serbia to take all necessary measures to prevent Serbian troops from firing at Bulgarian troops."

In official Serbian quarters in London this explanation is not accepted. It is said that official telegrams received from the Bulgarian government "indicate that the attacks are being prepared on Bulgarian soil, with the immediate object of cutting off the supplies of the Serbian army."

It is added that among the killed were many Turkish, but Austrians and that on the bodies of the dead were found documents showing the purpose of the invasion.

PEGOUD ATTACKS TAUBE.
French Aviator Performs Another Daring Feat.
Paris, April 6.—Another daring exploit has been added to the long list of those successfully carried out by Adolphe Pegoud, the famous French aviator, reported to have attacked and brought down a German Taube near Saint Menesboul, while he was alone on patrol duty.

The report of the incident says that when Pegoud saw the German approaching he flew rapidly toward the hostile aircraft and sent it to the earth with a few well placed shots. Pegoud then landed beside the Taube and took prisoner the German pilot and observer, neither of whom was injured.

Earlier in the same day Pegoud is reported to have driven off three other German aeroplanes, one of which had dropped nine bombs on a railroad station.

Revolution in Nicaragua.
San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, April 6.—A revolutionary movement has been started in the department of Estelí by some members of the liberal party. The government already has sent troops to crush the movement and taken the necessary steps to prevent revolutionary outbreaks elsewhere. Except for the department of Estelí the country is quiet.

To Elect Librarian.
Austin, Tex., April 6.—The state library and historical commission will meet Thursday morning, according to a call issued by Prof. W. F. Dougherty, president of the commission. The purpose of the meeting is to elect a state librarian. There are several applicants for the position. The position was originally offered to a minister of Temple, who declined it.

"STAR—Good For One—Better for Two"

Men Who Chew Are Men Who DO

THE farmers, on whom so much of America's success depends, are almost without exception, tobacco chewers. And more farmers use STAR tobacco than use any other brand.

It speaks pretty well for STAR that men who know tobacco, many of them being tobacco raisers, prefer mellow STAR Tobacco—in the thick, tasty plug.

Imagine a ripe orange in a thin skin. That's just like a plug of STAR—so full of ripe, good "chew" that it can't dry out—made clean and kept that way.

And don't confuse STAR with any of those 14 or 15 ounce "pound" plugs. Each plug of STAR weighs 16 ounces. Ask the dealer to let you see the revenue stamp on the box. That will tell the story of honest weight.

So great is the nation-wide demand for STAR that a year's output of sixteen ounce STAR plugs is equal in weight to 416,666 bushels of wheat.

COUNTY MEDICS BACK UP NURSE COMMITTEE

ECHO OF CONTROVERSY WITH MAYOR OVER ORDIN-ANCE.

Mass Meeting Friday to Present
City's New Officer—Dr. Young Speaks.

The McLennan County Medical Society went squarely on record last night as endorsing everything done by its district nurse committee and thanking its members for the course they had taken. Miss Laura Edwards, recently appointed to the position, was present and outlined her plans. The society also decided to attend, in as large numbers as possible, the mass meeting to be held Friday afternoon in the Central Christian church, when Miss Edwards will be formally introduced to the people of Waco.

Dr. Franklin Young of Chicago, representative of the American Medical Association, was present on invitation, and delivered an interesting address. Dr. W. O. Wilkes read a paper on "Home Treatment vs. Sanatorium Treatment of Tuberculosis," and Dr. H. T. Ayres worth one on "Chronic Mastoiditis and Complications."

The library committee reported that twenty-five of the leading medical periodicals would be placed in the public library at once and that the library would take care of them. Other medical works are to be added as rapidly as possible and a special section set aside for the medical department.

Among the visitors were Drs. W. H. Allen, N. D. Bule, August Strett, J. W. Tolbert, and F. B. Sewell of Marlin and Miss Ethel Jackson of the Evangelical Home. Three new members were elected, Drs. Wm. M. Brumby and S. Ross Jones of Waco, and Dr. W. F. Shipp of Lorena.

Crew of Willey Rescued.

New York, April 6.—The members of the three-masted schooner Lizzie B. Willey were rescued today off the Florida coast by the Southern Pacific steamship Proteus, according to a wireless message received here. The schooner, which left Savannah on March 31 for Eastwicket, was waterlogged, having sprung leaks in the gale of Saturday. The Proteus left New Orleans on April 3 for New York.

The Lizzie B. Willey carried a crew of seven. She was built in Thomaston, Maine, in 1885, and has a gross tonnage of 1,573.

Bank deposits have increased perceptibly in Ireland since the war began, owing to the sales of horses and cattle at good prices and increase of farm product prices.

Angeles Picked for Mexican President

General Felipe Angeles has been decided upon for provisional president by the Villa and Zapata factions, says a dispatch received from Mexico City.

The election of Angeles will take place, according to the message, at a convention to be held in Mexico City within a few days. General Villa asked that the convention be delayed until he can "clear the eastern border of obstructions and have time to consider peaceful matters of import."

General Angeles was chief of artillery in Villa's army that overthrew Huerta.

Constitutionality of Law Expatriating Women is Attached

Washington, April 6.—Constitutionality of the federal law of 1907 expatriating American women marrying foreigners was attacked by Mrs. Ethel C. MacKenzie of San Francisco, Cal., in a brief filed today in the supreme court. She was denied the right to vote in San Francisco on the ground that under the federal law she had lost her American citizenship by marrying Gordon MacKenzie, a subject of Great Britain, living in California.

Her argument is that congress can not merely because she has entered into marriage, take away her citizenship as long as she remains in the United States. She points to the state granting full or partial woman suffrage as evidence that a husband and wife are no longer to be considered as political entities, with their identity merged into one, and that the husband's.

On account of the European war she urges that her citizenship is of increased value.

THE MATINEE BRIDGE CLUB POSTPONED FOR A WEEK

Owing to the passing away of Mrs. T. J. Davidson, the Wednesday Matinee Bridge game was waived this week. Mrs. A. S. Haber will entertain the club next Wednesday.

MISS MINNIE KILLOUGH FOR MRS. THORNDIKE HOWE

As the first informal pleasantry of Easter, Miss Minnie Killough was hostess to some from among the near friends of Mrs. Thorndike Howe. This was an au revoir afternoon, since Mrs. Howe is about taking passage for her home in Massachusetts.

HOME MISSION SECTION TO CONDUCT PROGRAM

With the session of the Ladies' auxiliary, Central Presbyterian church, the subject will be the "Negro in Our Midst." This will be presented during Thursday afternoon. Mrs. E. E. Ingram is superintendent of this department. The leader for this special program will be Mrs. O. C. Fuller. Several members have been assigned special features both of the main theme and for attractive music. Mrs. J. W. Carroll will contribute.

THE BACHELOR MAIDS PLAY OUT AT JACK-BIL-LOU

The Easter game for the Bachelor Maids comes with Miss Louie Baker out at Jack-Bil-Lou on Thursday. This is quite the pleasure for the girls to have its outing, the season, in this attractive home. The president of the members of the club will present to telephone director Baker, and Miss Baker announces that, in case of an unfavorable day, without further notice, the game will be played in the home of her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Tuttle, Santer avenue.

FORMAL LUNCHEON COMES FOR LORADO TAFT

It is now assured that there will be a formal luncheon in honor of the distinguished visitor, Lorado Taft. This will be at the Huxley club on the day following the address of Mr. Taft in Carroll chapel. Immediate response has followed the proposal for this honor to Mr. Taft, and indications are for a brilliant event. Formal speeches with bright toastmaster will accompany the plate service.

ANNUAL EASTER TEA POURED OUT AT THE HOME

On Wednesday afternoon after 3 o'clock the women of the Home association will pour their annual Easter tea out at the home. All are invited to attend, see what the Home is doing, enjoy the social feature and leave their coin. Twice a year is this institution of charity opened to contributors as well as to the public. This is Thanksgiving and the Easter tide. Especially invited are strangers to the city who feel an interest in such practical charity, the temporary shelter for the unfortunate, and the permanent home for the aged women.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN HOLDS AN OPEN SESSION

The hour of business prelude with the Council of Jewish Women on Monday afternoon was full of dispatch, but only attention to routine matters incident to the several departments.

Following this, guests were welcomed and the open session enjoyed. The program as announced previously was given, the only change being a second original poem from Mrs. Edith Lessing, by request. The violin number of Mrs. Fred Lessing found Miss Emma Beer at the piano. Mrs. Edward Rotan's paper on "Eugenics" was the most pretentious number. This was heard with intense interest. Miss Edith Adelman with piano number opened the program.

AN INGENIOUS HOSTESS FOR MRS. ED THOMPSON

It is now to chronicle that Miss Margaret Thompson, a fourteen-year-old hostess, planned and conducted a pretty party in surprise to her mother, Mrs. Ed Thompson. For this, the little hostess was much complimented. She made her guest list, planned her diversion, and it was a clever one, did her own fancy work for prizes, and prepared her own luncheon. Are there many schoolgirls who can do all this? For the diversion, a "pied" menu was rearranged, the prizes falling to Mrs. Laurie Brown and to Mrs. Twaddell. To accept Miss Thompson's invitation for this pleasant hour with her mother were the Mesdames S. M. East, Twaddell, Chapin Seely, Laurie Brown, Robert Montgomery, W. C. Richter, W. O. Wilkes and Miss Hanna Efrom.

THE ART CLASS PROGRAM IS NOW ARRANGED

As all within Baylor University circle are well aware, each organization is contributing something towards the fund with which the Baylor University athletic field is to be equipped with a modern bath-house. THE NEW VISITING NURSE WILL ADDRESS MASS MEETING

The board of supervisors met on Monday afternoon to consult as to the next move with the district nurse. It was decided at once that a campaign of education is the feasible thing. Whenever an innovation comes into our city government, the logical thing is to afford opportunity for taxpayers to know what the new move is, and it is expected to accomplish and how it will be furthered. Towards this end all the women in the city organizations co-operating, the board is announcing a mass meeting, men and women, for the Central Christian church on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Especially are opponents of the nurse as well as those who are new to the idea, requested to be present. Miss Edwards will be the speaker. She will state plainly what district nurse is supposed to do for a city, what she has done where she has far been employed, how the citizens can co-operate, what they may reasonably demand from the nurse. This will all be a matter of education along the line of advanced city-making for the citizens of Waco. The East Side women, those in Edgeland, those from the Evangelical Settlement, all the members of women's organizations throughout the city, and individual women, the city commissioners, the local physicians, these are some who should hear Miss Edwards. One feature to be stressed is the value of the district nurse in prevention of epidemics within school children. Ministers of all the city pulpits are especially urged to be present, so that these, too, may learn what the services of the nurse means in their visiting among the sick.

Society Notes

Mrs. Dan LeBow is now master of a new home on West avenue, near Sixteenth.

The Friday Bridge club is resuming this week. Mrs. A. B. Cowan will be the hostess.

The close of this week will have noted the resumption of all the card parties and adjournment.

Colcord avenue west of her mother, Mr. Fourteenth and removals of the present week has been noted Mrs. C. M. Pitts of West avenue. She has gone to make her home in Hico.

Owing to a fifth Tuesday in March, the Mary West chapter is having an interval of three weeks. The next session comes next week.

Miss Helen Miller, who is attending school at Monticello, Illinois, is enjoying her Easter vacation with school friends in Chicago.

A reconsideration retains Mrs. H. W. Carver in her home on West avenue. It had been expected that the Carver home was sold.

The women are taking more than for a long time past to the downtown tea rooms and kitchenettes, the first impulse for the call outdoors.

Mrs. C. C. Terry, hostess in prospect for the Mystic Needleworkers, is entertaining on Friday instead of the accustomed Thursday, this week.

Now is the time to think of nature's beauty, read nature stories, and come to enjoy the beauty in life which so many of us pass with blind eyes.

Miss Florrie Neale Cooper has gone from school in Washington City to enjoy a visit with Mr. and Mrs. William Neale, who are now in New York City.

The Thursday Bridge is resuming weekly games with this week. The day, however, for this week will be Saturday. Mrs. H. C. Wingo is the hostess.

Do not worry about the absence of the blue bonnets. Do you not know that all vegetation is one month late this year? So far, there is scarce the rose fully blown.

Miss Frances Hays is out of school for an Easter week with Mrs. Hamilton Gary, in Washington City. Miss Hays, earlier in her vacation, took a trip to New York City.

The Shakers club will honor the presence of the distinguished Shakers writer, Hamilton Wright Mabie, by hearing his address in Carroll chapel on Thursday morning.

The Facts About an Interesting Case Of Serious Female Trouble Brought By The Use of Cardui.

Walnut Cove, N. C.—Mrs. E. A. Rothrock, of this town, says: "About two years ago I was in very bad health for three or four months."

"At this time I had a serious female trouble, which lasted severely for nine weeks. I got awfully weak and could scarcely go, and my doctor said I ought to be in bed."

My two sisters, who had used Cardui with good results and who now use it as a tonic, recommended it highly to me, saying it is a fine medicine.

"I felt if I lived I must have something to help me, and as other medicines had failed to relieve me, I thought I would try Cardui, the woman's tonic. At this time I was almost skin and bones."

"I seemed to improve after the use of the second bottle of Cardui. The trouble stopped, I suffered less pain, and began to get back my strength and health. I took five more bottles and got back my natural state of health, also my flesh, and could do my work easily."

This spring I was run down in health; had over-worked myself. I took nearly three bottles of Cardui, and I hope other women will, too. Your case may not be as bad as the above, but even if only a mild case, we suggest that you begin today to try Cardui, the woman's tonic."

passed out of date, what next for so many of the white and the green, as delicate and fresh as the season itself?

Mrs. Vandenberg of Victoria, Dr. Webb and Mrs. Allen, were a party who came up from Marlin for the Billie Burke engagement. Large parties were here from all the nearby towns.

It is now line up for the baseball season. The women are very much interested. Remember, the shops close on Thursday while Mayor Riggins pitches the first ball across the diamond.

Owing to assuring news from her mother, Mrs. Wylie, in Dublin, Mrs. H. K. Brewer did not make the trip. Miss Clarence Brewer is prolonging her Easter visit home through this week.

Mrs. J. N. Harris has returned from her prolonged visits in Saint Louis and Kentucky. She is with her granddaughter, Mrs. Lewis Early, Thirteenth and Barnard, until more permanently located.

The Bridge Juniors postponed their game with Miss Maydee Canfield from Tuesday until Saturday. This was to accept the invitation for the club to serve as usher for the Bertha Kunz Baker readings.

Whoever would have thought the women would be ringing a liberty bell? And yet, the story comes that an exact reproduction of the original "Old Liberty" has been cast, and will be used by the suffragists.

Mrs. Milton Bangs of Kansas, the present visitor to Mrs. Albert Clifton, is already beset for several complimentary Easter affairs; however, definite detail is yet in abeyance since Mrs. Bangs arrived only on Monday.

This is certainly the full and the varied week for woman's activity; and yet but few affairs purely social. Does it not point toward women's having attention more closely riveted upon the really worth-while things in life?

We never thought to find this in an etiquette book, but is it not appropriate for the conversational side of life? "Never ride your favorite hobby except in the bosom of your family, and then very seldom." Remember these tiresome cooks, and babies, and appendixes, and the other things so close into the heart of the woman inclined to ride her hobby.

Miss Mattie Jones remembered a few of her home friends with Easter boxes of "pussy willow," the Colorado native flower. She included the something new and this is a crimson sunflower, which was perfected by a plant specialist of Colorado last season. It is now the pleasurable interest to see what the first red sunflower for Waco will be.

To Inspect State Institutions.
Austin, Tex., April 6.—It is planned by the sub-committee on appropriations now in session here to make a tour of the state probably next week, and visit all state educational and eleemosynary institutions to get first-hand information as to needed appropriations. The committee is now engaged in getting information from the heads of departments as to appropriations.

THE KITCHEN CUPBOARD

USES FOR COCOANUT.

COCOANUTS are not used nearly enough by the average housewife. When out of season and a fresh one cannot be obtained, the following recipes can all be made with desiccated coconut:

Coconut Pudding.
Cream three ounces butter with four tablespoonsful of castor sugar. Then add the yolks of three eggs (beating all the time), three ounces flour and three ounces grated coconut. Flavor with a few drops of vanilla or, if preserved ginger is liked, add two ounces cut up very small. Whisk the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and fold lightly into the mixture. Put into a well buttered mold and steam for two hours. Turn out and serve with hot jam or sweet sauce.

Coconut Cream.
Mix three ounces corn flour with one gill of milk. Put one and one-fourth pints of milk in a saucepan and when boiling add the corn flour. Let it all cook for about five minutes; then stir in one and one-half ounces butter, one ounce sugar and one and one-half ounce of grated coconut. Color with a little carmine; then pour into a wet mold and turn out when cold.

Sprinkle. with grated coconut and decorate with halved gale cherries.

Coconut Macaroons.
Sift together a scant cupful of flour and one of granulated sugar. Add two cupfuls of best shredded coconut, mix thoroughly and fold in the whites of three eggs whipped to a stiff froth. Roll into a sheet, cut in small flat cakes and bake in a moderate oven.

Coconut Cheese Cakes.
Sift one-half pound of castor sugar and mix with it one-quarter pound of butter, one-half pound of grated coconut, the yolks of two eggs and the white of one. Stir until thoroughly mixed; then put into a saucepan and boil for twenty minutes. Put into jars, and when cold the down and keep in a cool place.

Coconut Pound Cake.
Beat one-half pound of butter to a cream and add gradually one pound of powdered sugar, a pinch of salt, one teaspoonful of grated lemon peeling; then add four eggs, beating in one at a time; one cupful of milk, one-quarter pound of shredded coconut and one pound of sifted flour, with two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Bake in two loaves forty-five minutes.

CARNIVALS VS. EXPOSITIONS.

Houston is passing through an experience in regard to its annual No-Tsu-Oh carnival that has its lesson for the directors of the Texas Cotton Palace of this city. For ten or twelve years Houston has been contributing from fifteen to twenty-five thousand dollars a year for a carnival, which has served no other purpose than bringing the people to the city once a year for a little fun and frolic. And while this investment has probably justified itself—else the business men of Houston would not be contributing the expense money from year to year—there is nothing permanent attached to it. The chief function of the carnival has been to make a noise and as the Houston Chronicle points out, babies like a noise but it takes full-grown men and women to do things worth while for a large city.

As the eyes of many thoughtful and earnest citizens last year's exhibition of the Cotton Palace with its ham and chicken sales and similar features assumed too much of the form of a cheap carnival and not enough of an educational exposition. One good step the directors of the Cotton Palace have taken is to place more emphasis upon the agricultural exhibits this year. One of the most desirable buildings on the grounds has been set apart specially to agriculture this year and an agricultural committee is seeking to induce the sending of the best specimens of the various crops grown in this section. As Mr. Ousley pointed out to the Rotary Club Monday, agriculture is the primary source of all our wealth and we can truly prosper only as our agricultural interests prosper. Proper agricultural exhibits at the Cotton Palace will do much toward stimulating interest in better agricultural production in this section of the state and we are sure the venture will justify itself many times over.

And larger attention should be given to the rural people in making up the program of the Cotton Palace. For instance, on the days that the rural schools come to see the exposition some kind of a program or athletic meet for them should be arranged. Young people like to do something. They like to have a personal part in what is going on, and a spelling match between some of the schools, a track meet or a football game would arouse additional interest and draw larger crowds.

And then at least one or two nights during the exposition might be given over to the society people of the surrounding towns and rural precincts for such functions as they might care to put on. Young people from these towns and communities, desiring to participate in the functions that have been arranged at the Cotton Palace in the past, have found the affairs monopolized by the young people of Waco. We recognize that the Germans, Bohemians and some other nationalities have their balls and other social events, while the fraternal orders take up some of the other evenings, but we believe one evening during the exposition could be very easily surrendered to the young people of surrounding towns and communities for a ball or whatever they might want to put on. At least we have heard that they would like a little larger part in the social activities of the Cotton Palace than they have had before and we think they are entitled to it. Co-operation along these general lines with the people of our surrounding territory will serve to bind them to the Cotton Palace in a more effective way than before and we are confident the matter is well worth looking into.

Now that King George, Lord Kitchener, Emperor William, Emperor Nicholas and a few other dignitaries of state have climbed aboard the water wagon, Mr. Bryan will not feel so lonesome if he decides to repeat his grape juice diplomatic dinner.

The dentists of Texas will now be wanting to pull all the teeth out of the governor's veto pen.

THE CITY AND THE FARM.

Those business men of the city who heard the address of Clarence Ousley, director of the extension service of A. and M. College, before the Rotary Club Monday got a new vision of their obligation to the farmer, as well as a new conception of the relative value of the business man and the farmer to the welfare of the community. Mr. Ousley placed a new emphasis upon the recognized truth that there is no original wealth except that which comes out of the soil, and he called attention in a very interesting manner to the fact that the farmer, the creator of our wealth, is not getting his proportionate share of that wealth, too much of it being absorbed in tolls by the exchangers or business men of the city.

Nor is the soil producing all the wealth that it should, Mr. Ousley explained, nor all that it is capable of producing under the proper treatment. Money raised by the cities to foster factories for which there is no economic demand is so much money wasted, in Mr. Ousley's opinion, and he urged that the city builders of this state turn their attention to more intensive and productive agriculture, saying that returns from the product of the soil constitute real wealth and true wealth is the basis of true prosperity.

And it is the privilege of the business men of a city to greatly facilitate the production of the soil of their communities if they care to do so. Farming can not reach its most profitable stage without the aid of livestock and it is the absence of livestock that has contributed so much to the deterioration in the productivity of the soil of this state. In the enthusiasm for cotton, grain and other feedstuffs needed in the fattening of livestock have been eliminated largely from the farms and when the feed supplies have been cut off the quantity of the livestock has been automatically reduced. And the land has lost the fertilizing influence of a body of livestock, thus adding that loss to the deterioration that comes to the soil from planting it to cotton continuously, or following the same course with any other one crop without rotation.

There are some who think there is no aid for the farmer outside of government aid. And while government aid in the establishment of land banks and other forms of rural credit is doubtless essential, there are some ways in which the business men of this or any other city could do much to aid the farmers without the intervention of the government.

Adding the farmer in getting hold of livestock is one of the most essential forms of help and this can be done without government aid. We have seen something of it this year in Waco in the "Buy a Pig" movement of the Chamber of Commerce. But the principle needs to be extended and instead of furnishing just the boy with a pig, furnish the boy's father with a bred sow on the same terms. A bunch of business men can go in together and buy a car load of sows, already bred, at car load lots at the market price for meat hogs. These sows can be distributed among such farmers as are known to be industrious and reliable, the banker, merchant, landlord or whoever the farmer is in the habit of dealing with, paying for the sow at the time and taking the farmer's note for that amount, payable in the fall when he has his money.

The same principle could be employed in the purchase of young dairy cows, pains being taken to assure the farmer a market for his milk and butter regularly before the cow is procured for him. There is a ready market for milk, cream and butter here and that market could handle all the dairy products that could be produced in this county.

There must be co-operation in the purchase of the livestock and co-operation in the marketing of it, and of the dairy products and of the various other products of diversified farming if success is to be attained. Farmers of Denton and Dallas counties have recently launched a co-operative egg shipment with the result that large quantities of fresh eggs are being shipped at satisfactory cash prices and the farmers are reaping the profits.

It is possibly too late for movements of this kind to be launched among the farmers of McLennan county this season, but the business men of the city should begin to think of them, lay their plans for something definite next year and make their preparations to see that work of this character is done next year. The extension service of A. and M. College will aid in launching an organization for this purpose and Waco should not fail to avail itself of this opportunity.

More poultry, butter, eggs, fruit and vegetables produced in this county will mean much for the business of the city. It will mean cheaper produce at home, leaving the consumers with more money with which to purchase other things, and the sale of this character of produce both at home and abroad by the farmers of this section will bring to this city much wealth that has been hitherto absorbed by the producers and exchange men of other sections.

There's some philosophy and a lot of truth and common sense in this observation from the Texas Farm and Ranch: "A few pigs, a few calves, a few lambs and a few colts with grazing and grain will in a few years make the farmer independent of cotton and the credit system. Most enterprises had a small beginning. You need not be ashamed to start with little. Get a few animals and start the nucleus of a herd."

This by way of suggestion to the housewife: If Hubby seems to be drowsy and in need of a spring tonic, induce him to rise at 6 a. m., put in an hour and a half spading the newly made garden in the back yard, then take a cold bath, and we venture he will not need an internal tonic of any kind to give him an appetite for a very stable breakfast.

MR. EDDINS' RESIGNATION.

While regretting exceedingly the circumstances that have brought about the situation, we wish to commend the action of Mr. A. W. Eddins in resigning his position as superintendent of the State Training School for Juveniles at Gatesville. To have continued in the position would have meant great embarrassment to him and a serious crippling of the school, for there was no indication that the board would have received any co-operation from Austin in the way of much-needed appropriations as long as he remained superintendent. A similar display of magnanimity on the part of Governor Ferguson would have saved to one of the state's most important institutions the best man that has ever served it as superintendent, for he was the first superintendent, and only one, to be elected solely upon his qualifications and without any political consideration whatsoever.

And while there may be some of Mr. Eddins' friends who will express sympathy for him in the situation, we congratulate him upon his broad course and reserve our sympathies for the institution that is again to be made a political prize. Mr. Eddins will find another position. Men of his capacity are not long idle, but the institution will suffer from the change, no matter how efficient the new superintendent may be, because lack of a stable and continuous policy must seriously handicap an institution of this character, or any other one that is seeking to do a large public service.

But the governor has become fixed in his determination that his political friends shall be rewarded, and our supposedly sacred and inviolate constitution offers no more obstacles to his designs than a man of straw. He entered state politics a novice and "got away with it," to employ a slang expression. He may be able to do the same with his dispensation of favors at the expense of our state institutions, for the love of spoils is still strong with a large element of our people. But we hope the governor will not seek to carry this policy any further and that he will leave to the directors of our chief educational institutions the management of the internal affairs of those institutions, for the moment he begins to use them as political awards he will have a fight on his hands by the side of which the protest over the San Antonio and Gatesville incidents will be forgotten.

As for this paper, our interest in the training school at Gatesville will remain and we shall seek to give the incoming administration the same support and co-operation we have given the school all along, in its efforts toward elevating the ideals, improving the conduct and bettering the equipment for life of the delinquent boys placed in its charge.

The effectual stamping out of the foot and mouth disease in this country came just in time to save this state the $25,000 which the legislature appropriated for fighting the disease and the governor was quite right in vetoing the bill, with the understanding that should the disease break out later he will take care of the situation with deficiency warrants, if need be.

There are some persons who would not like to listen to a woman preach, but news stories from Beeville declare that the sermon last Sunday night by Mrs. T. F. Sessions, wife of the Methodist presiding elder of that district, was one of the most instructive and inspiring the people of that city had heard. A lay sermon now and then is entirely in order.

With porters of the Pullman company receiving only $27.50 per month in wages for the first fifteen years of service, it appears that there may be plenty of room at the top of that company's ladder the means for ascending it are rather limited from the porter's point of view.

Since Governor Ferguson holds that efficiency and devotion to duty count for naught in a public servant in case there is a hungry pie seeker who wants his job, he can not consistently complain in 1916 if some one should decide to oppose him for re-election.

When Jack Johnson has spent his gate receipts from the Havana fight and his share of the motion picture royalties he will probably have to go to work, which will be a good thing for all concerned, and especially for Jack Johnson.

It's a long way from some points in the United States to Washington, but from all indications the diligent pension hunter manages to get there, somehow, long enough to make connection with the pension pie counter.

Judge Crawford of Dallas advises the grand jury of his court to investigate the pool halls, which he says are the breeding places of crimes. Why not vote them out as McLennan county did, and be rid of them?

Between the ever-increasing demand for farm loans and the reverence for the Texas homestead law, where will the Texas politician jump?

RAILROADS ASK FOR INCREASED RATES ON LIVESTOCK SHIPPING

Chicago, April 6.—Witnesses for the railroads testified at the interstate commerce commission hearing of the western rate case today in behalf of the forty-one western railroads' contention that they must have higher rates on livestock in order to obtain sufficient revenue properly to maintain their lines. Livestock is one of a number of commodities upon which the western roads are seeking to increase freight rates to yield them, the railroads estimate, $10,000,000 more revenue a year.

Testimony was presented that the hauling of livestock was not yielding its share of transportation cost and that the livestock industry in this country was at a standstill so that the roads could not expect to gain more revenue from increased tonnage.

Supporting the claim that the rates on cattle, hogs and sheep should be increased on an average of 3c a 100 pounds and those on horses and mules 5c a 100 pounds, C. Haile, vice president of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroad, testified that livestock hauling was the most expensive, and least profitable of all freight business. "Livestock is a commodity upon which the rates always have been conceded as too low, in comparison to the yield on other commodities," Mr. Haile said. "We cannot do business successfully at the present rates. The extraordinary expenses attached to the care and handling of cattle takes too much from the profits. The commodity is of a perishable nature with liability for heavy claims for damages. Extreme promptness is necessary, free transportation must be afforded caretakers and the carrier is liable for damages to caretakers."

Loading of cars for livestock is very light, the paying weight being not more than 40 per cent of the gross weight. All the cattle carrying roads must provide special pens and loading chutes and the amount of precautions is endless. The average earnings on livestock a car, he said, is $23, compared to $42 a car on all other freight.

Asked to furnish figures as to the amount of increased revenue which the railroads expected to obtain from higher rates on livestock, Mr. Haile said it had been impossible to compile estimates for all the roads involved in this case. The Chicago and Northwestern, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago Great Western, the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, the Missouri, Kansas and Texas and the Atchafalaya, Topoka and Santa Fe, he said, would earn about $645,000 a year more and on this basis all the roads would earn about $1,500,000 more annually through higher rates on livestock.

Two more days have been allotted the railroads to complete their side of the hearing. On Friday the protesting shippers are to begin testimony against advances on specific commodities.

Fair Trial for Cox. Washington, April 6.—Assurances have been given the American consular at Chihuahua that a fair trial will be accorded W. B. Cox, formerly of Williamson, W. Va., imprisoned by the Villa authorities on the charge of circumventing the Mexican currency. The consul advised the state department that Cox's case had been committed to a military court for disposition.

General Villa's intention to adopt drastic measures to suppress confidence in business transactions on account of the wide prevalence of counterfeit money, the statement said, "has reached such an inestimable extent that drastic action by the government has become necessary. Natives and foreigners without regard to rank or reputation must be dealt with alike in this situation."

Williamson, W. Va., is now being held under counterfeiting charges at Chihuahua. The confidential agency is advised that Cox entered Mexico through Tampico, carrying with him $200,000 in counterfeit and that the day he was arrested he had with him only 109,550 counterfeit pesos, indicating that he had put into circulation about 1,000,000 pesos of his worthless money. Cox is being held for trial and he will be afforded every possible means of defending himself.

Carranza Troops to Lampazos. Laredo, Tex., April 6.—Fifteen hundred Carranza troops left Lampazos, seventy miles south of the border, today to reinforce the garrison at Nuevo Laredo, opposite this city, according to Maclovio Herrera, commandant at Nuevo Laredo, who sent an urgent call for assistance to the border. The Villa force had left Piedras Negras opposite Eagle Pass, to attack Nuevo Laredo. Herrera troops today began cleaning trenches, placing additional barbed wire entanglements and other defensive measures. He claims to have ammunition sufficient for several days' fighting.

A Carranza force of 300 men, which failed to reach Matamoros before the Villa campaign there, is expected to reach Nuevo Laredo tomorrow to assist the Herrera command.

Col. P. B. Hunt. Dallas, April 6.—A native of Kentucky, but a resident of Texas since 1885, and one of the best-known men in Dallas, Col. Philomeno Burgess Hunt, aged 78, died at his home here Monday night after an illness which had extended over several months.

Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian church Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The remains will be sent to Lexington, Ky., Colonel Hunt's birthplace, for interment.

Atwell for High Elk Office. Dallas, April 6.—Dallas Elks launched a campaign Monday night to secure the election of William H. Atwell, grand exalted ruler of Elksdom in 1916. Mr. Atwell has consented to make the fight for the office if he has the solid support of the Texas lodges in the race.

The movement is expected to gain such impetus that a special train of Texas Elks is planned to convey the Texas delegates to the annual reunion at Los Angeles July 13, to work for the election of Mr. Atwell.

Month of March an Extraordinary One From Weather View

Washington, April 6.—March was an extraordinary month this year from a weather standpoint, according to the official weather and crop bulletin issued today by the weather bureau. Not since extensive weather records began more than forty years ago has the weather been so continuously cold, the bulletin says.

At Boston, with a record extending back nearly a hundred years, the precipitation during March was the least for any month of the entire period.

As affecting crop conditions, March was on the whole unfavorable east of the Mississippi, wherein the winter grain belt cold weather delayed growth. West of the Mississippi the crop is more satisfactory, while in the far west it is reported in good condition. Generally fair weather over much of the corn belt permitted an unusual amount of plowing and preparation for planting and some has been planted in the more southern portions of the corn growing districts.

In the south early fruit has been injured to some extent but on the whole the outlook is considered favorable, especially in the far west.

Cattle and sheep in the west are reported as having come through the winter in good condition.

Good Prices on Cotton at Temple. Temple, Tex., April 6.—Farmers received the highest price of the season for cotton today, when a number of bales were purchased by local buyers at a price of 9.25c, which is nearly double that paid at the opening of the season.

Foreign Trade Balance. Washington, April 6.—Foreign trade of the United States from March 27 to April 3, netted a favorable balance of $1,621,172. This was an increase of $5,122,029 over the preceding week. Exports amounted to $37,402,908, imports totaled $35,781,734. Of the exports New York handled $24,979,994 worth and New Orleans the next largest export center, shipped goods to the value of $5,851,119.

Cotton exported during the week amounted to 239,293 bales, making the total number exported since Aug. 1, 1914, 6,731,513.

Sure Way To Get Rid Of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.

GUILTY VERDICT IN ELECTION FRAUDS

MAYOR DONN M. ROBERTS OF TERRE HAUTE AND TWENTY-SIX OTHERS.

BUT TWO ARE NOW IN JAIL

Cumulative Penalties Can Amount to $26,000 and Nineteen Years.
Sentences Monday.

Indianapolis, April 6.—Mayor Donn M. Roberts of Terre Haute and all except two of the other twenty-six defendants in election conspiracy cases who were found guilty by a jury in federal court here today, had returned to their homes tonight to remain until Monday morning when they will be sentenced by Judge Anderson. In the meantime preparations for an appeal were being made by the attorneys for the convicted men.

In anticipation of the adverse verdict many of the convicted men have already made arrangements for their appeal bonds.

Only two of the twenty-seven convicted men are in jail here tonight. They are Alexander Aczel, alias Steel, who was arrested sometime ago and held under $5,000 bond on a charge of attempting to corrupt government witnesses and Timothy (Bull) Conway, who just before the trial opened was given a jail sentence in a local court for carrying concealed weapons.

Severe penalties can be imposed. The possible cumulative punishment under the four counts of the indictment is fines totaling $26,000 and imprisonment for nineteen years.

The trial and the investigation which preceded it has cost the government approximately $12,000. The expense for witnesses for the trial was estimated at $5,000.

There was no demonstration of any sort when the verdict was rendered.

Those found guilty are: Donn M. Roberts, mayor of Terre Haute and candidate for the democratic nomination for governor; Eli H. Redman, declared elected Vigo circuit judge by ten votes; Elmer E. Talbot, controller of Terre Haute until his resignation because of the trial here; Dennis Shea, sheriff of Vigo county; Maurice Walsh, county sealer of weights and measures and democratic campaign fund treasurer; Harry S. Montgomery, president board of public works; John M. Maselink, city inspector of weights and measures and a member state legislature in 1911; Thomas C. Smyth, city judge; George Ehrenhardt, member board of public works; Edward R. Driscoll, secretary Vigo county democratic committee; Hilton Redman, son of Eli P. Redman; Charles Houghton, of Eli P. Redman; Joseph O'Mara, Wm. S. Crockett, Richard Knuckey, Alexander Aczel, Arthur Gills, John E. Greene, William Doyle, Gambler, Pearley McKay, George Soxner, Timothy (Bull) Conway, Andrew O'Brien, Joseph Strauss, George Woodall and Wm. P. O'Donnell, minor city officials and political workers.

German Embassy Asks Probe Into Firing at Ship Odenwald

Washington, April 6.—Investigation of the circumstances under which the American forts at San Juan, Porto Rico, opened fire on the German steamer Odenwald, and alleged undue detention of the vessel by the port authorities, has been requested of the state department by the German embassy here. The embassy today issued a statement charging that no warning shot was fired as a signal for the vessel to leave to sea as is customary in such cases. A report to the treasury department from the collector of customs directly contradicted the statement, saying a warning shot was fired. Secretary Bryan said today an investigation into the incident had not been completed.

Secretary Garrison said that in the presence of the collector of customs the German consul and the Odenwald's commander had been warned that "force would be used if necessary, to prevent the vessel leaving without clearance."

Government officials pointed out that the case of the Odenwald was now in the federal courts in Porto Rico, where the captain could bring up a claim in his defense. Today's notification, it was said, was the first intimation that the German commander felt he had not been fairly dealt with. Clearance was withheld from the steamer because she was suspected of preparing to take supplies to a German cruiser outside the harbor.

FIRE AT TEMPLE.

Heavy Water and Smoke Damage to Stocks.

Temple, Tex., April 6.—Heavy water and smoke damage to stocks in the furniture store of Temple & George on Main street and Central avenue.

The blaze started in the second floor of the building, which was used by the firm for storing surplus stock. The fire was confined to a small area and extinguished after considerable difficulty, but not without the use of much water which descended in floods upon the stocks in the buildings on the first floor.

Thick palls of smoke added to damage inflicted by the water. The firms involved are Temple & George, furniture; The Hub Store, dry goods and furnishings; Hamill's Tailor shop and Miss Lustre Roberts, millinery. All were badly damaged but to what extent it is difficult to estimate. The amount of insurance carried could not be learned.

Very Effective Method for Banishing Hairs

(Modes of Today.)

At very little cost any woman can rid her face of hairy growths, if she will use the delatone treatment. This is made by mixing some water with a little powdered delatone. This paste is spread upon the hairy surface for two or three minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm results from this treatment, but care should be used to buy real delatone.

To Investigate Good Roads Expenditures in Temple Precinct

Temple, Tex., April 6.—The appointment of an investigating committee from its membership to investigate the manner in which the proceeds of a $600,000 good roads bond issue, voted to construct good roads in the Temple precinct over a year ago, have been expended, was decided upon last night by the Chamber of Commerce.

Rumors have been afloat for some time to the effect that there was insufficient money remaining to complete the construction of the road mileage contracted for and promised. Failures to carry out the purposes of the good roads construction in other respects also being alleged. The committee to be chosen will endeavor to get at the true facts in the case.

Germany Claims No Neutral Lives Lost On Ship Falaba

Washington, April 6.—Government officials took under consideration today a statement from the German embassy quoting an official message from the Berlin foreign office in which responsibility was disclaimed for the loss of any neutral lives on board the British steamer Falaba, recently sunk by a German submarine.

Germany claims that the Falaba, as well as other British merchantmen, were armed and that military necessity made it impossible for the submarine to give any longer time for the passengers to escape.

State department officials say the death of Leon C. Thresher, an American lost with the Falaba, constitutes a complicated case. If the German view is accepted the rights of neutrals to travel abroad belligerent craft of any kind would be circumscribed. Furthermore, Germany contends sufficient time was permitted for the escape of the passengers and the intimation is given that if he was not included among those saved, there was an act of negligence for which the Germans were not responsible.

Early today President Wilson told callers that no steps had been taken diplomatically by the United States in the Thresher case, beyond efforts to obtain the facts.

GERMANY HAS BUT 2 MILLION MEN SAYS A FRENCH ARMY REVIEW

men. The available resources amounted to at the beginning of January to 3,200,000 men.

All Trained Men in War. Of what are these resources composed chiefly of men who are untrained in time of peace, the trained reservists having almost all left the depots for the front. It has, moreover, to be noted that out of these 3,200,000 men there are, according to the statistics, 800,000 who are more than 35 years of age, and are, therefore, of only mediocre military value. Thus there remain 2,400,000. Finally, the category of the untrained in peace comprises, according to the estimates of German military authorities themselves, one-quarter of inefficient.

"The really available resources capable of campaigning are, therefore, just 2,000,000. These men, comprising the 1915, 1916 and 1917 classes called out in anticipation, constitute—and this point cannot be too strongly insisted upon—the total of available resources for the operations during the twelve months of 1915. As to what the military value of these troops will be, considering the haste with which they have been trained, the formidable losses sustained in the battle of Flanders by the newly formed corps shows very clearly. Their military value will be limited.

"When it is remembered that, according to the German documents themselves, the definite each month is 250,000 men, it is manifest that the available resources for the year 1915 will not suffice to fill the gaps.

"It is, then, superfluous to establish that in the matter of effective Germany has reached the maximum of possible effort."

Zeppelin Over Dunkirk.

Villa Remits Assessments.

San Antonio, Tex., April 6.—A message from Monterey dated April 1 says that General Villa has remitted the assessment levied against the American members of the chamber of commerce. The Americans contributed their pro rata of the 1,000,000 pesos contained by Villa and which is being used for the relief of the poor of the city. Villa says the foreigners have

Bisurated Magnesia for Stomach Troubles

In these days of almost universal indigestion, dyspepsia and other stomach trouble the recent announcement by a great specialist that pure bisurated magnesia is an almost infallible remedy for nearly all forms of stomach trouble, will come as a welcome surprise to all sufferers. A teaspoonful in a little water immediately after eating, or whenever pain is felt, neutralizes the excess acid and instantly stops the fermentation and pain. Those who use bisurated magnesia regularly for a week or two usually find that the trouble has entirely disappeared and normal digestion is completely restored.

TRADE EXPOSITION CANNED BY M.D.L.

BUILDING TO BE SECURED, MADE IN WACO PRODUCTS BOOSTED, FESTIVAL HELD.

PROGRAMS FOR EVERY NIGHT

Churches and Schools Will Be Invited to Co-Operate in the Project.

A Y. M. B. L. Trade Week and Made-in-Waco Exposition, to be held in the near future, was initiated at the meeting of the league directors held last night, when the home industries committee of which J. M. Penland is chairman, submitted an outline of a plan made by H. A. Armstrong, a publicity man well known in the south-west. Armstrong's plan, which is printed in full following, and which was enthusiastically discussed by the directors, contemplates a two weeks' exposition, to be held in some large building available. Manufacturers and merchants of the city will be able to rent booths, in which to display products made in the city, or for which they have agency, for advertising purposes, distributing samples, making demonstrations or other forms of publicity. No sales will be made in the booths.

Co-operation with the committee of manufacturers for educational displays and demonstrations. Churches will be allowed to have bazaars or other forms of raising money in their booths if they so desire. Details of this part of the plan will be worked out later after conference with the churches.

As special entertainment features for the week, one-night programs are planned to be of widely different form, each contributed by some organization. Baylor university has asked to have one day set aside for the university, which will have a booth in the exposition hall. Band concerts, special stunts by the Y. M. B. L. and the Chamber of Commerce, and many musical features will make up the entertainments.

It is planned to rent the building on North Third street formerly occupied by the Sanger Bros. wholesale department, which is the largest building available in the business section of the city. Booths in the building will be rented for enough to pay all the expenses of the exposition, not touching the fund which has been raised by the Y. M. B. L. for the prosecution of the home industry campaign.

The matter will be taken up by the Manufacturers' association in a special meeting to be held this afternoon. It is probable that Mr. Armstrong will have charge of the show, working under the direction of the league, industry and publicity committees of the Young Men's Business league and a similar committee from the manufacturers.

Following is the outline of the exposition as submitted by Mr. Armstrong and approved by the directors last night. Name—Y. M. B. L. Trade Week and Made-in-Waco Exposition. Purpose—To cement a closer relationship between every business enterprise, social and business organization, on a thorough, practical, approved community co-operative basis. To rent the McClellan estate building and the old Sanger Bros. wholesale building (190x320 feet), decorate them appropriately, cut them up into spaces for booths, sell the spaces to retail stores, local business men, as well as to outside people who wish to carry on demonstrations and exhibits that do not conflict with "Made in Waco" products.

Manner of Co-Operation. Churches.—The ladies of the different churches and social organizations are to be given an opportunity to make money in their booths with their bazaars, auction sales, candy sales, fish ponds, etc., as well as extend the hospitality of the churches by congenial, inviting rest rooms.

Schools.—The school children are to be given an opportunity to give their class work, statistical information and other advantages before the public at a time when the public mind is in tune for community co-operation and education.

Retail Stores.—The local retail stores will be given an opportunity to show their seasonal merchandise or make any display they wish in their booths to carry on demonstration work of any nature, enter the Trade Marked Advertisements Show Window contest and to give away from their booths each night by means of having each visitor to the exposition write his or her name on a slip of paper, depositing in a prize box, later a name to be drawn by a little girl, such name winning the prize, which within itself is a splendid method of advertising and furnishing the crowds with an interesting and innocent form of amusement.

Manufacturing Establishments.—All local manufacturers will be given an opportunity to make an extensive display of "Made in Waco" products, create an interest in same by demonstrating a prize method desired; thus exciting a greater local interest and appreciation of what Waco produces, and by reason of being brought out in a true community co-operative manner attract more attention and get more publicity than could be gotten otherwise.

Miscellaneous.

The Y. M. B. L. and Chamber of Commerce can take advantage of the opportunity to renew their campaign for Waco and her resources.

By establishing "nights" as Church Night, School Night, Baylor Night, Y. M. B. L. Night, Visitors' Night, Manufacturers' Night, etc., a greater personal interest can be worked up. By offering prizes for popular attractions, local contests, fireworks shows, etc., more personal interest can be aroused.

Speakers can be arranged for one night, taking such subjects for discussion as will mold opinion toward the ends in view.

A dollar banquet can be arranged for the last night and proceeds can be used for a continuation of the work.

Holland's Magazine will take a booth, furnish an art display, hand out sample copies of the magazine, ask-

Mexican Exile May Return to the Presidency

EX-PRESIDENT HUERTA

Mexico City, April 7.—It is persistently rumored here that ex-President Victoriano Huerta will soon return to Mexico and lead a movement to overthrow the present authorities. General Huerta has a powerful following among the natives and he has strong financial backing.

ing for no remuneration or seeking no publicity. Its only interest is to see Waco do for her self.

Object to Train Removal.

Action of the transportation committee, E. C. Blumeyer, chairman, was ordered upon the report that the I. & G. N. railway is planning to remove another train on their line between Waco and Mart, leaving only one train each way a day. The transportation committee reported that it had been unable to run down the rumor, getting neither confirmation or denial from the officials of the road here. Some time ago the road removed the night train running between Waco and Mart. The train affected by the report runs from Mart to Waco.

The league went on record as being strongly opposed to removal of the train, and every effort will be made to induce the management of the road to retain the train, if its removal is contemplated. In case the league's efforts will be made to have a motor car to make the run each way a day.

Would Transfer Game.

Aid of the Y. M. B. L. was asked by local bankers who are planning to entertain the State Bankers' Convention, which meets here next month, with Texas League baseball games. The Y. M. B. L. is planning to have the convention and an effort is being made by the local bankers to have the games transferred to Waco. The matter has been taken up with the club owners, and the president of the Texas league committee, of which President Hutchison of the Y. M. B. L. is chairman, was named to assist the bankers in the matter. The possibility was raised by President Hutchison that there was a provision in the by-laws of the Texas league passed at the last meeting of the club owners, which prohibits games from being transferred from one city to another within the close of the season. If such a provision exists, no further action will be taken in the matter.

Through Col. J. E. Horne an invitation was extended to the Y. M. B. L. from Captain Harris, government engineer in charge of the construction of Lock and Dam No. 4, eleven miles below Waco, on the Brazos, to visit the government works in a body some day. Captain Harris said that the lock and dam was nearing completion, and on account of the interest of the Y. M. B. L. in the matter he would be glad to have them visit the site on any day convenient to them. The matter was delayed until the general meeting of the league next Tuesday night, when it is expected the invitation will be accepted and a day set for the trip.

To Distribute Reports.

Reports of officers and committees of the league made at the close of the last administration will be ready for distribution at the general meeting next week, if the printing can be done by that time. The publicity committee of the league was instructed by the directors last night to let the contract at once. Directors said that the reports would be a permanent record of the accomplishments of the league, and the evidence of the faith that the officers and directors have kept with the members of the league who elected them, and who are not so actively connected with the work of the league. Enough of the reports will be printed to supply all the members.

It was reported that the Cotton Palace directors had referred the form of the guarantees to be secured from citizens of the city to an attorney, who will prepare them in legal form. Active campaign to raise the guarantee will begin at once, with the Cotton Palace directors and the Y. M. B. L. committee working in conjunction.

Following discussion as to the proper committee to handle the campaign to obtain the state home of the Knights of Pythias for Waco, and which was referred to the locating agencies committee two weeks ago, an amendment was offered to the constitution by Director Friedlander, which would combine the locating agencies committee with the home industry committee. This committee was recently combined with the entertainment committee, but with the large amount of work on the hands of the entertainment committee, brought about by the number of conventions coming to the city, members of the entertainment committee found themselves unable to give the proper time to the locating agencies work.

American Hides on Roof.

Santa Fe, N. M., April 6.—Dr. William B. Davis, American vice consul at Guadalajara, escaped imprisonment by Carranza adherents by hiding on the roof of the consulate after the instant had looked and sealed the doors, according to private letters from Guadalajara, received here today. He remained on the roof two days during the evacuation by the Carranza forces. The new war loan imposed by Villa at Guadalajara, these advisers say, include the following sums on Americans:

Anaparo Mining company of Philadelphia, 170,000 pesos. A. W. Geist, John H. Kipp, hardware merchants, 7,000 pesos; L. Gas & Co., the principal French dry goods firm, has been forced to pay 220,000 pesos. Of the natives, Joaquin Cuesta, a prominent citizen, was promptly shot by the Villa forces when he refused to pay his assessment.

Department of Insurance and Banking, State of Texas, Austin, Texas, March 22, 1915: To All Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that the Lion Bonding & Surety Co., of Omaha, Neb., has in all respects fully complied with the laws of Texas as conditions precedent to its doing business in this State, and I have issued to said company a certificate of authority from this office entitling it to do business in this state for the year ending the 29th day of February, 1916.

No Statement Regarding Pinchot.

Washington, April 6.—Secretary Bryan said today that he was not yet prepared to make any announcement concerning the refusal of the German government to permit Gifford Pinchot to act in the Belgian war zone in the distribution of food supplies. He indicated that the matter was being discussed with the German foreign office and that an understanding had not yet been reached. Mr. Bryan declined to say to what duty Mr. Pinchot would now be assigned.

A government decree published in Vienna orders that from now on 50 per cent of male or Indian corn must be used in making bread. The order specifically relates to private houses, where people make their own bread, as well as to bakeries. Rolls can be baked only once daily and the military hospitals must be supplied by the bakers before any private orders are filled. The horse butcher shops are not allowed to sell more than a pound of horse meat at a time.

Leading professional women of the United States are Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, a preacher; Dr. Mary Walker, a surgeon; Christine Ladd Franklin, a scientist; Hetty Green, a financier; Annie S. Relemer, a chemist; Belva Lockwood, a lawyer. There are many others, but the ones mentioned are leaders in their respective professions and are equal to the best male talent that the country has. Women, of course, lead too in the letters and arts.

It's Easy to Peel Off All Your Freckles

The contrast between the freckles and the clear skin usually is so great that no bleach can be more than partially successful in obliterating the disfigurements. Ordinary mercurized wax is far better; it literally peels off the freckles. Get an ounce of it at the nearest drug store and tonight spread on enough to completely cover your face. Remove in the morning with warm water. Repeat daily until every freckle has disappeared.

Rough, blotchy, pimply skin also common at this season, may be entirely gotten rid of by this same method, without discomfort or inconvenience. The effort is decidedly worth while, the complexion obtained being so clear, smooth and youthful.

If bothered with wrinkles, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered azolectin in a half pint of witch hazel. This is the most effective and quickest-acting wrinkle treatment known.

Your Grandmother's Remedy for Purifying the Blood

And Renovating the System in the Springtime

Ask for Sulpherb Tablets.

What was grandmother's unexcelled remedy? Haven't you heard of it? Yes, you have. It was sulphur, cream of tartar and molasses. The main trouble with it was its nauseous taste.

A modern method puts the cream of tartar and sulphur into sugar-coated tablets and mixes them with herbs, roots, etc., making a wonderful tonic, blood purifier and system cleanser.

Just try Sulpherb Tablets (not sulphur tablets), but Sulpherb—remember the name—and get the tablets in sealed tubes at 50c per tube. Grown-up people and children who don't feel well.

Patented or sluggish or who have pimples, boils, carbuncles, ulcers and the like, can soon rid the system of these impurities by taking this good old-fashioned remedy in modern form. Their action satisfies or money is refunded by the Prescription Products Company, Dayton, Ohio. A free trial sent to any address. Buy of any well-stocked druggist.

Sick Women Made Well

Reliable evidence is abundant that women are constantly being restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

The many testimonial letters that we are continually publishing in the newspapers—hundreds of them—are all genuine, true and unsolicited expressions of heartfelt gratitude for the freedom from suffering that has come to these women solely through the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Money could not buy nor any kind of influence obtain such recommendations; you may depend upon it that any testimonial we publish is honest and true—if you have any doubt of this write to the women whose true names and addresses are always given, and learn for yourself.

Read this one from Mrs. Waters:

CAMDEN, N.J.—"I was sick for two years with nervous spells, and my kidneys were affected. I had a doctor all the time and used a galvanic battery, but nothing did me any good. I was not able to go to bed, but spent my time on a couch or in a sleeping chair, and soon became almost a skeleton. Finally my doctor went away for his health, and my husband heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got me some. In two months I got relief and now I am like a new woman and am at my usual weight. I recommend your medicine to every one and so does my husband."—Mrs. TILLIE WATERS, 530 Mechanic Street, Camden, N.J.

From Hanover, Penn.

HANOVER, PA.—"I was a very weak woman and suffered from bearing down pains and backache. I had been married over four years and had no children. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound proved an excellent remedy for it made me a well woman. After taking a few bottles my pains disappeared, and we now have one of the finest boy babies you ever saw."—Mrs. C. A. RICKBORN, R.F.D., No. 5, Hanover, Pa.

Now answer this question if you can. Why should a woman continue to suffer without first giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial? You know that it has saved many others—why should it fail in your case?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself if she does not try this famous medicine made from roots and herbs. It has restored so many suffering women to health.

Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Tried to Keep the Pinchot Expulsion from the Public

The Hague, April 6, via London, April 7, 12:11 a. m.—Both Henry Van Dyke, the American ambassador to the Netherlands, and Gifford Pinchot, attached to the American legation, reached the Hague on April 6, and the matter of Mr. Pinchot's expulsion from Belgium by the Germans from publicity, lest such action should render more difficult the work of relief in Belgium, involving the surrender of nine and a half million destitute people of that country and the northern provinces of France.

Mr. Pinchot, however, on learning today that the incident had been published, gave the Associated Press the following signed statement: "Some time ago I was asked by Herbert C. Hoover to become a member of the commission for relief in Belgium and to take charge of the feeding of the French in the invaded provinces north of the German lines. After going twice to the continent and after the commission had been organized and guaranteed by the German government, the American commission's food would not be taken.

"I came to The Hague and reported immediately to Dr. Van Dyke, to whose legation I was attached by orders from Washington, with the specific duty of representing the commission of relief in feeding the civil population in northern France within the German lines.

"Dr. Van Dyke procured from the German legation at The Hague the necessary papers for entering Belgium. On March 30 I went with my wife in a commission automobile and was accompanied by a Brussels representative of the commission to the Belgian frontier, where my diplomatic and commission passes were examined. After three hours' delay we were sent under an armed escort to Antwerp.

"The next morning orders came from the German governor, General von Bissing, through the head of the

"Before leaving, however, I received a letter from the American minister at Brussels, Brand Whitlock, saying that the reason given by General von Bissing for our expulsion was my relationship to the British minister at The Hague, Sir Alan Johnstone, who married my sister, and the fact that I had stayed with him at The Hague on my way to Belgium. Accordingly we returned to Holland on March 31, and since then have been staying with the American minister at The Hague, awaiting instructions from Washington.

"In entering and leaving Belgium Mrs. Pinchot and I were searched by the German military authorities. "I cannot close this statement without expressing the deep impression made upon me by what I saw of the work of the American commission for relief in Belgium and especially the warm expressions of gratitude and appreciation which came to me from every side and all classes of people, including many of the leaders of the province in which Antwerp lies."

"Dr. Van Dyke, referring to this occurrence, said: "The incident has diplomatic relations, of course, but these are infinitely less important than the continuance of the work of the relief commission which is saving millions of people from starvation. Therefore, I shall say nothing about the incident until I receive instructions from Washington."

"Climbing at a great pace, he reached Malvern Beacon just as it came dawn, and he had not much time to spare, but he had enough to be impressed by the slow paling of the stars over space that seemed infinite, so little were its dreamy confines visible in the May morning haze, where the quivering crimson flake and spears of sunrise forced up in a march upon the sky. That vision of the English land at dawn, wide and mysterious, hardly tallied with Mr. Cuthbert's view of a future dedicated to Park and Garden City. While Derek stood there gazing, the first lark soared up and began its bright praise. Save for that song, silence possessed all the driven dark, right out to the Severn and the sea, and the fastnesses of the Welsh hills, and the Wrekin, away in the north, a black point in the gray. For a moment dark and light hovered and clung together. Would victory wing back into night or on to day? Then, as a town is taken, all was over, and the overmastering rush, and light proclaimed.—John Galsworthy.

"A lady of Somerset bewailed the loss of a somewhat ill-bred but extremely wealthy neighbor, who had been very liberal in his help to her country charities.

"Mr. X is dead," said she. "He was so good and kind and helpful to me in all sorts of ways. He was so vulgar, poor, dear fellow, we could not know him in London, but we shall meet in heaven."—London Tit-Bits.

"A butcher in a 'nice part' of town tells of the curious whims of some of his well-to-do patrons.

"One of them rushed into his shop just about closing time and exclaimed: "My husband desired that I should come in this afternoon and order some special English chops, and I have been so busy until now I haven't had the time. Now I shall be compelled to carry them. And couldn't you please have them wrapped so that they will look like a book?"—Pittsburg Chronicle.

LAST HONORS PAID TO DEPARTED CHIEF

FATHER P. A. HECKMAN OF TEMPLE PRONOUNCES EULOGY OVER PRESCOTT'S BODY.

CHURCH FILLED TO OVERFLOWING

Guard of Honor Surrounds Casket as Body Rests in State—Requiem Mass Is Sung.

To an audience that filled the Church of the Assumption to overflowing, Rev. P. A. Heckman of Temple yesterday morning pronounced a beautiful and fitting eulogy over the body of Arthur M. Prescott, fire chief of Waco for more than twenty-nine years. Surrounded by a guard of honor, consisting of John Pudig, Russell Robertson, O. Bettinger and Wendel Miller, the casket containing the remains of the chief rested in state for an hour before the services began, while streams of friends passed by and gazed for a last time upon the countenance of the departed.

The church was draped in mourning. A requiem mass was chanted, after which the last absolution was given by Very Rev. Dean E. A. Kelly. Those conducting the mass were, Celebrant, Very Rev. Dean E. A. Kelly; deacon, Rev. P. A. Heckman, Temple, chaplain of the Volunteer Firemen's association of Texas; sub-deacon, Rev. L. Navarro. After the mass the "De Profundis" was recited. "Lead Kindly Light" was sung by Mrs. W. C. Hopkins and Miss Fidelia Miller, while the casket was being removed from the church. The church bell began tolling as the cortege started.

The funeral procession was headed by Chief of Police Guy McNamara and Policeman Joe Carlisle. Firemen on foot followed, then the chief's auto, the truck all bearing draperies of black. On either side of the hearse and the buggy drawn by "Joe Bailey," the chief's faithful horse, walked the active pall-bearers. H. D. Hughes of Engine Company No. 2 led the horse, the buggy being unoccupied. A party of firemen from Temple attended the funeral.

Mrs. R. A. Hanrick, daughter of the deceased, fainted at the grave in Oakwood cemetery and was taken to a house nearby. Last night she was reported considerably better. The body was buried in the firemen's lot and the grave was covered with a profusion of floral offerings.

Three Most Noted Women.

San Francisco, April 6.—Mrs. Zekia Nuttall of Coconino, Miss. Miss Katherine B. Davis of New York, and Miss Jane Addams of Chicago, have been selected by the woman's board of the Panama-Pacific exposition as the three most noted women of America. It was announced today. They will be guests of the board at the exposition for one week.

Mrs. Nuttall was chosen for her work in prison reform and Miss Addams for social settlement work.

A Natural Wish.

To have ideas of your own at 5 is truly prodigious, but Harry was only 4 and he had more than a few ideas.

One day a rather inquisitive aunt began to cross-question him.

"Are you a good child?" she asked of him.

"Humph—yes."

"What do you want to be when you grow up?"

"Man."

"Yes, of course. But what sort of a man?"

"One that isn't always asking silly questions."—New York Evening Journal.

American Lost When Germans Sank Boat

Gen. Von Kluck's Wound Healing. Amsterdam, via London, April 7, 3:07 a. m.—According to Berlin newspapers, which have reached Amsterdam, the wound of the German General von Kluck, is healing and the general is progressing satisfactorily toward recovery. It is added that Emperor William has conferred upon Gen. von Kluck the order of Pour le Merite.

Curing Catarrh is A Simple Method

Go to its Source and the Cure Is Then Accomplished.

Only those who have used S. S. S. for the blood know that catarrh is simply a blood trouble.

Most physicians constructed in this manner, braneous disease, treat their nose and throat as if catarrh was a local trouble. It is not so. To treat catarrh it is necessary to go into the stomach, the liver, the lungs, the kidneys and all the vital organs of the body. And it is S. S. S. that at once enters the entire blood circulation, all the organs of the body, all the mucous surfaces and becomes a dominant factor for renewed health. It is a simple method when you figure it out. Catarrh is plainly an inflammation of the mucous membranes.

And there is in S. S. S. certain ingredients which cause these mucous surfaces to change or convert their secretions into a substance for easy elimination. A special book on this subject will be mailed to all who write to The Swift Specific Co., 110 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Catarrh is very often the result of some other blood trouble, some germ that gets into the blood and multiplies beyond the control of nature.

S. S. S. is the remedy. Do not accept a substitute for this matchless remedy. Read the circular wrapped around the bottle. It is important.

The state department has instructed Ambassador Page and Consul General Skinner at London to make an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Leon C. Thresher, the American mining engineer, drowned when the German submarine sent the British liner "Falaba" to the bottom. The ambassador and consul general reported that Thresher had been drowned, but they said they had no official information. They do not know whether ample time was given for escape and that Thresher was negligent, whether he was killed by the explosion caused by the torpedo or drowned while the vessel was sinking. Officials had little doubt that the case eventually would form the subject of representations to Germany. In its note, after Germany's war zone proclamation, the Washington government notified the German foreign office that it would feel compelled to hold Germany for the loss of American lives or property through the operations of submarines against British merchant shipping.

To treat catarrh it is necessary to go into the stomach, the liver, the lungs, the kidneys and all the vital organs of the body. And it is S. S. S. that at once enters the entire blood circulation, all the organs of the body, all the mucous surfaces and becomes a dominant factor for renewed health. It is a simple method when you figure it out. Catarrh is plainly an inflammation of the mucous membranes.

And there is in S. S. S. certain ingredients which cause these mucous surfaces to change or convert their secretions into a substance for easy elimination. A special book on this subject will be mailed to all who write to The Swift Specific Co., 110 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

Catarrh is very often the result of some other blood trouble, some germ that gets into the blood and multiplies beyond the control of nature.

S. S. S. is the remedy. Do not accept a substitute for this matchless remedy. Read the circular wrapped around the bottle. It is important.

The state department has instructed Ambassador Page and Consul General Skinner at London to make an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the death of Leon C. Thresher, the American mining engineer, drowned when the German submarine sent the British liner "Falaba" to the bottom. The ambassador and consul general reported that Thresher had been drowned, but they said they had no official information. They do not know whether ample time was given for escape and that Thresher was negligent, whether he was killed by the explosion caused by the torpedo or drowned while the vessel was sinking. Officials had little doubt that the case eventually would form the subject of representations to Germany. In its note, after Germany's war zone proclamation, the Washington government notified the German foreign office that it would feel compelled to hold Germany for the loss of American lives or property through the operations of submarines against British merchant shipping.

Leon C. Thresher

Only those who have used S. S. S. for the blood know that catarrh is simply a blood trouble.

KAO HOLDS BAYLOR TO A NO HIT GAME

CHINESE UNIVERSITY TEAM PLAY PERFECT BASEBALL AT CARROLL FIELD.

NOT A BOBBLE BY VISITORS

Bears Also Play Good Ball, Robertson Holding Hawaiians to Four Runs.

Apau Kau, of the Chinese University of Honolulu yesterday afternoon pitched a perfect game against Baylor, allowing not a single hit, walking nobody, hitting not a man and allowing not a Bear to reach first base. Behind him his teammates played errorless ball, and put four runs across as a reward for his wonderful pitching. It sometimes happens that a pitcher will get through a game without allowing a hit, but the record is particularly short of perfect baseball and that is what the clever young American citizen, of Chinese descent, played yesterday. Incidentally, Kau struck out 26 Baylor batsmen.

Few more interesting games have been seen in Waco, than the affair staged by both teams yesterday. Robertson of Baylor came back after having a bad day on Monday, and struck out eight men, allowed but two walks in the eight innings he was in, and showed great form all through. He was relieved by Farrington who allowed three hits in the ninth for one run.

Baylor made three errors, any one of which was to some extent excusable. The bunch really showed up excellently and the class of ball they put up with was more than a fair percentage of games. But they were stacked against such pitching as is seldom seen in college or even professional class. Apau Kau is manager of the Chinese team. He has a great spit ball and he often takes it to the mound. He has a head on the part of Walter Johnson and his dry curves are equally as good. Besides all this he has a wonderful control and uses his head like a veteran major leaguer.

It was not until the seventh inning that Kau started really working. He paid little attention to anything beyond keeping the bases clear if possible. In the third, fourth and fifth innings he struck out eight consecutive men and when Mendonhall broke this string with a grounder to second, Kau said nothing more about any kind of a record. When the seventh was gone through he announced that he would try to keep men off the bases for a no hit game.

He was perfectly cool, showing little signs of any strain, although he was undoubtedly anxious to get a no hit game. In the ninth Coach Mosley sent in three pinch hitters. With Miller at the bat, the last man of the game, Kau appeared slightly anxious, but he tried hard to hit. With the count two and two on the batter Kau sent a slow hook up to the plate which Miller reached with ease. Kau at second, for the last out of the game. It is an unwritten law in professional baseball that when a pitcher has a no hit game, he should not pitch again at second, for the last out of the game. It is an unwritten law in professional baseball that when a pitcher has a no hit game, he should not pitch again at second, for the last out of the game.

WACO TO CLOSE UP FOR OPENING GAME

Y. M. B. L. COMMITTEE REPORTS THAT 155 BUSINESS HOUSES SIGN AGREEMENT.

WORK TO BE CONTINUED TODAY

Everybody Urged to Go to Katy Park Tomorrow Afternoon and Help Win Davidson Cup.

Waco will close up for the opening game of the Texas league to be played at Katy park tomorrow. One hundred and fifty-five business houses, including all the stores on Austin avenue, picture shows, saloons and all, yesterday signed an agreement being carried about by the committee of the Young Men's Business league appointed to make certain that Waco will win the cup offered by President Davidson of the league to the town having the largest paid admissions on opening day, according to the complete authentic report of the committee delivered to the directors of the league last night. The agreement provided for closing between 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon tomorrow.

The committee will continue its work today, and all remaining firms will be signed up. So many have signed already that the committee can say to the business man that he can not lose any custom, as all of his competitors have already signed.

C. P. Link is chairman of the Y. M. B. L. committee, being assisted by John F. Wright, Frank J. Trau, W. T. Wheeler, W. A. Laughlin, S. B. Price, and T. H. Williams.

The following business firms were reported at the meeting last night as having signed the agreement yesterday:

Sanger Bros., Goldstein-Migel Co., Shuman & Co., Marks Millinery Co., Graham-Jarrell Co., The Famous A. C. Patton, The Fashion Bazar, Adelman Dry Goods Co., Old Corner Drug Store, Powers-Kelly Drug Store, Stetler's Drug Store, Jurney Drug Store, Texas Power and Light Co., William Cameron & Co., Archbold & Co., M. NAVIGATORS AGAIN TRIM SHERMAN CLUB

IN FACT, WELL PLAYED GAME WINS OVER WESTERN ASSOCIATION BUNCH 3-1.

Ogle, Former Grayson County School Teacher, Pitches Good Ball for Waco.

Sherman, Tex., April 6.—Waco again defeated Sherman but today's contest was swift and well played and resulted in a score of 3 to 1. While there were no sensations both teams worked hard and played a game that pleased the spectators. Ogle, who is a former Grayson county school teacher and whose baseball ability was developed by the former Texas league scout, C. Y. Mulkey, pitched the last four innings for Waco and showed excellent form.

All score—
Waco.....120 000 000—3
Sherman.....000 000 100—1
Donald, Ogle and Riley, Walters; Trammell, Corsine and Adams.

Plenty of Noise Makers.
Crowd blocks similar to the ones used last year by the rooters with which to make a din during the game. They have been turned over to the Rooters' Club and will be distributed from Buddie's place on South Fourth street, the balance to be distributed at the park.

The parade will start from Sixth and Franklin at 2:30. Plenty of time will be allowed for the teams to practice after the arrival at the park. Kid Nance with his Panthers will ride in autos in the parade and of course the Navigators will be the chief feature in the procession, also in autos.

STATE SHUTS OUT HOWARD PAYNE.

Austin, April 6.—Bailey, pitching for University of Texas, shut out Howard Payne today, 2 to 0, struck out fifteen men and allowed but five hits. Bailey in addition to his phenomenal pitching got one of the two hits made by his team off of Wooden. It was strictly a pitcher's battle. This was the second game of the series of two games by these teams, the Longhorns winning both.

Waco Girls Beat Belton 18 to 9.
Belton, April 6.—Waco and Belton high school girls' basketball teams engaged in a contest here today which was won by the former the score standing, Waco 18, Belton 9. The game was played in the gymnasium of Baylor college.

Charles Chaplin and "his girl" in his comic capers in "A Jitney Elopement," their newest two-reel happy-go-lucky runaway comedy, at the Hippodrome today and tomorrow, will give Waco movie fans an opportunity to apply the golden rule or "He who smiles at break of day hath good luck and gathereth hay." Millions—yes, literally, millions—of persons are laughing daily at Charles Chaplin's comic capers. He is the greatest mirth producer of the age. Movie fans the world over stand in line for hours to get a very good chance to see this wizard of merriment.

Two Women.
An extra feature today and tomorrow with Charles Chaplin in "A Jitney Elopement," is "Two Women," a Vitagraph Broadway Star feature with Anita Stewart and Earle Williams.

The one woman is as wise as a serpent, the other is as innocent and harmless as a dove. The charms of one lead to death and despair; the charms of the other to love and happiness.

Throbbing with the deepest emotions and highly dramatic, this beautiful three-part Broadway Star feature reaches the very well-spring of human sympathy: it "gets over" to you absolutely and unmistakably.

John Emerson, a clean-cut, manly man, worships his beautiful but weak and misguided wife, Cleo, and is blind to her disloyalty, although she gives him every evidence of her aversion. She is carrying on a flirtation with John's employer, Robert Lawler, and wishing to make his conquest complete the latter sends John out of town on business, then invites Cleo to take an automobile ride. She accepts. John arrives home early, and not finding his wife, sits down to wait for her. When she and Lawler come in, John upbraids her for her behavior, and after some hot words, knocks his employer down. Six months later, John now divorced, reads of Cleo's marriage to Lawler and their departure for Europe. Broken in health and spirit, Emerson leaves for the North Woods, where he finds rest and recreation, hunting and fishing. On one of his rambles, he meets Anita of the Woodland, and is completely captivated by her beauty and unconscious witchery. Friendship ripens into love, and after telling her and her father the story of his former wife, secures her consent to become his wife. Meantime, Lawler tires of Cleo, becomes enamored of a married woman, whose husband finds them in a compromising situation and shoots both. Cleo, now a wealthy widow, returns to New York, secures John's address, and arrives at the cabin in the woods while he is away. On his return, Emerson is for the time being blinded by her beauty, but Anita coming in at this moment

Stratton Furniture Sale Starts Off With Rush of Buyers

Opening with a day even surpassing expectations, indications are that the sale of the Stratton Furniture stock, has been even greater than was anticipated. A large crowd was on hand at the store, at the northwest corner of Sixth and Austin, was opened at the clock yesterday morning. And the people kept coming—and buying—day long.

Surprise was heard on every side at the low prices that were offered. Mr. Dennis & Co. have kept their price, nothing is reserved and the prices are such as to bring gratification to those who have been and will be purchasing the various articles on sale.

When Mr. Dennis closed the deal to buy the Stratton stock, he did it with the idea of closing it out as soon as possible, so that the carpenters could be put to work in remodeling the building. Consequently, prices were placed on every article that make them acceptable bargains to the householders of Waco and central Texas.

At yesterday's rate, the sale will be of short duration, for there was a throng of eager buyers in the store from the moment it opened until it closed. However, the stock was a large one, unusually up-to-date in every particular, and most of the articles in the stock are bargains at the prices at which they are offered.

Warehouse Burns with Supplies for Europe.
Houston, Tex., April 6.—The destruction by fire last night of W. L. Edmondson's warehouse, along with over $200,000 of hay being gathered for the warring nations of Europe and the United States army, will be thoroughly probed by officials.

The burned warehouse was an assembling point for cargo shipments to Galveston. Beyond the fact that the flames were first seen breaking from an upper window, nothing of the origin is known. Insurance was carried but in what amounts is not figured up as yet.

Oklahoma City, Republican Mayor.
Oklahoma City, Ok., April 6.—The city election in Oklahoma City resulted as follows:
Ed Overholser, republican, chosen mayor.
J. G. Street, democrat, elected commissioner of public property.
Mike Donnelly, democrat, elected commissioner of finance.
The new board of commissioners will consist of three democrats and two republicans.

The defeated democratic candidate, W. D. Gault, is a son of W. J. Gault, who defeated Ed Overholser's father for mayor twenty-five years ago at the first election held in Oklahoma City under the newly established form of government.

Negro Women Arrested.

Night Chief Bob Buchanan and Patrolman Head arrested two negro women last night on the complaint of a white man, who said that the women took $14 from his pockets, blacked his eye and hit him on the head with a brick. The affair occurred in the alley back of the saloon at Sixth and Mary streets, about 9 o'clock.

Jess Willard and Johnson Prepare to Leave Island

Havana, April 6.—Jess Willard and Jack Johnson, the two heavyweight pugilists who made ring history here yesterday, are preparing to depart from Cuba. Willard, the new champion, accompanied by a numerous party, will leave for Key West early tomorrow, but where he will proceed from there, whether to Jacksonville, New Orleans or New York had not been decided late tonight.

Willard was given a dinner and reception by the citizens of Havana this evening. Everywhere Willard went to-day cheering crowds followed him. Johnson remained in seclusion most of the day. He declared that he would depart on Thursday or Friday for the island of Martinique. He discharged his camp followers today. The big black says he no longer is of interest to the public and desires to be left alone. He declared today that he wanted to go on a long sea voyage to some country where he is not known.

The promoters of the fight tonight announced that the battle drew the best office $110,000 and that the attendance was 32,000.

The natives of Cuba are still fight mad. Groups of them were in the cafes and hotels and on street corners today and tonight arguing about yesterday's battle at Marianao or illustrating awkwardly the various punches delivered by Willard and Johnson. Photographers who took pictures at the ringside did a hand of the business. Enlarged snapshots of the knockout sold for $5 a piece while sidewalk vendors got rid of thousands of postcard sizes for ten-cents each.

Methodist Revival Getting Good Start

A good-sized congregation attended the union Methodist revival last night and interest seems to be growing. Rev. D. A. McGuire, pastor of the Clay Street church, preached on "Little Things," taking his text from Exodus 14:2. God needs men now as much as when he called Moses, the speaker declared. He said that it was the little things of life that were overlooked and that every man could do some good, if he only would.

The choir was organized and everything is being worked out to make the revival a great success. Rev. J. A. Whitehurst, presiding elder, will preach tonight. Bishop Killeo will be here in a few days and will do most of the preaching after his arrival.

Services are being held each night in the tabernacle at Eleventh and Columbus.

Mrs. Tom Davidson Dies.

Mrs. Tom Davidson, 63 years old, died at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at the family residence, 702 North Fifteenth street. She had been unconscious for several days, having been stricken with paralysis Saturday morning. She has lived in Waco for forty-five years and countless friends will mourn her death.

The deceased is survived by her husband, Tom Davidson; a son, J. L. Davidson; and five daughters, Mrs. M. Swartz, Misses Mamie, Jessie, Lillie and Eva Davidson, all of Waco. Married in Syracuse, N. Y. Mrs. Davidson came to Waco soon after her marriage and had resided here ever since.

This morning at 10 o'clock the funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock, Rabbi I. Warsaw of Temple Rodof Sholem officiating. The pall bearers will be as follows:
Active, Simon Hart, N. D. Naman, P. Jack Sanger, G. Rosenthal, I. Simons, D. E. Hirschfield; honorary, C. K. Wiel, Sam Sanger, A. Suhler, H. Olenbush, Dr. N. A. Olive, Dr. W. L. Crosthwaite, M. Golding, L. Migel, H. S. Long, E. A. Naman, Ben Alexander.

There were two full moons in January, 1915, one on the first and one on the 13th. There was no full moon in February, but there were two such again in March, one was on the first and the other on the 21st. Astronomers say that this condition will not occur without in 2,000 years, though it did happen before as recently as 1856. Some sign-believers construe this to mean that 1915 will be a year for the restoration of peace as was 1856, and that the long interim between now and the recurrence of this lunar phenomenon forebodes peace for the next two and a half million years.

Watertown, New York, has solved its unemployment problem effectively by opening a wood pile. Railroads donate cast-off ties, which are sawed into stove wood by men who get $1.50 a cord. The wood is sold at $2 a cord, the net revenue going back into an unemployment fund to give more men work.

"THE UNSEEN EMPIRE" A PLEA FOR PEACE

MRS. BERTHA KUNZ BAKER READS DRAMA DEALING WITH WAR IN EUROPE.

Hidden Causes Claimed Responsible for Conflict—Two Thousand People in Audience.

"The Unseen Empire," having its rulers in the great armament factories of Europe, with its agents in every capital of the world, is the sustaining force that makes war possible, was the theme of a drama of the great war in Europe, read by Mrs. Bertha Kunz Baker, well known dramatic reader, and peace advocate, at Carroll Chapel yesterday afternoon. Fully 2,000 persons, the greater number women, heard Mrs. Baker. Very unsatisfactory car service on the two lines passing Carroll Chapel caused much confusion and complaints, especially when the crowds were returning to the city.

Mrs. Baker is traveling through the southwest, representing the Woman's Peace Party, organized recently in Washington, of which Jane Addams is president and many prominent women of the United States are connected as officers and directors. Mrs. Baker, in introducing her reading yesterday afternoon, read the platform and explained the aims of the Woman's Peace Party, which are to take some definite step to end the present war in Europe, to induce all nations to immediately reduce armaments, and finally to abolish all war.

"The Unseen Empire," Mrs. Baker explained, was a drama written by an American author, to disclose the hidden causes that bring on war, proving the statement that war is the aim of all preparations for war. Mrs. Baker said that the drama was written a year before the commencement of hostilities, hence is of peculiar interest. After the outbreak of the war, the author revised the manuscript, filling in some of the events that are already history, and it was this revised manuscript that Mrs. Baker read. The scenes of the drama are laid in Germany, not to try to fasten the blame for the war on the Germans, Mrs. Baker explained, but as the play is a protest against militarism, it was natural for the author to turn to the nation that has brought militarism to its highest state.

Mrs. Baker added, "Not that France or Russia or England would not have an establishment equally as great and effective if they knew how, for all of these spend more on their armies and navies than does Germany." In the play, diplomatic intrigues, matters of state and international politics rage around the great gun works of the nation, which are in the hands of the woman. Mrs. Baker pointed out the allegorical figure of the woman as representing the position of women today with regard to war. First ignorant, and therefore indifferent, the awakening of the woman in the play and her desperate action that brought the war to an end is compared to the stand that the world is looking to the women today to make. Thus will all war cease, said Mrs. Baker.

The speaker announces that the application cards for membership in the Woman's Peace Party will be handed at the door, after the reading. Many were signed.

Money Still Needed for Sites of Dams Along the Brazos

One thousand dollars is required for the purchase of dam sites necessary for the work that the United States government is doing to make the Brazos river navigable to Waco. A campaign to raise this amount will be started at once by the Chamber of Commerce, according to a statement made by Secretary E. P. Drake yesterday. The rivers and harbors bill passed by the last congress carries an appropriation for $200,000 for the work on the Waco end of the project. Several sites are yet to be secured below Waco. Cities and towns along the river below here will donate the land necessary on their side of the river, while Waco is expected to secure the land necessary on the opposite side.

Loss of Appetite

Most Successfully Treated by Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Loss of appetite is accomplished by loss of vitality, which is serious. It is common in the spring because at this time the blood is impure and impoverished and fails to give the digestive organs what is absolutely necessary for the proper performance of their functions.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old reliable all-the-year-round medicine, is especially useful in the spring. Get it from your druggist today. By purifying and enriching the blood and giving vitality, vigor and tone, it is wonderfully successful in the treatment of loss of appetite and the other ailments prevalent at this time. It is not simply a spring medicine—it is much more than that—but it is the best spring medicine.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes the rich, red blood the digestive organs need.

CALL MASS MEETING FRIDAY AFTERNOON

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE PROPOSITION TO BE EXPLAINED AND MISS EDWARDS INTRODUCED

AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Federations and Medical Society Invite Citizenship of Waco to Hear the Work Outlined.

For the purpose of introducing Miss Laura Edwards, the newly appointed public health nurse, to the people of Waco, a mass meeting has been called for 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Central Christian church. The meeting will be under the joint auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs, the Federation of Missions, and the McLennan County Medical Society.

All citizens of Waco are invited to the meeting. Miss Edwards will be introduced to the people and will be given an opportunity to outline the scope of her work and ask the co-operation and assistance of the entire citizenship in making her work a success.

The following letter is among the credentials of Miss Edwards, the newly appointed public health nurse.

It will be of general interest, since the writer is the pastor of the First Baptist church of Paris, Tex., and is the son of Rev. J. G. Kendall and well known here.

"To Whom it May Concern:
"This is to certify that I have known Miss Laura Edwards for a number of years. She is a married Christian woman, thoroughly capable as a nurse and also possessed of sound common sense and executive power. She has had a great deal of experience in district nursing and the like, and when ever employed has given eminent satisfaction. Without any sort of reservation or hesitation, I commend her as worthy of every confidence. There are no peculiarities or idiosyncrasies about Miss Edwards that would make her objectionable. She is just the same all the time, always desirable and delightful as a worker.

"Very truly yours,
"W. B. KENDALL."

Since there appears to be some misunderstanding as to the duties of the public health nurse, the ordinance creating the office and defining the work is given below.

Public Health Nurse Ordinance.
"An Ordinance Creating the Position of Public Health Nurse in the City of Waco, Providing for an Advisory Board, Providing Term of Office, Salary, Duties and Qualifications of Said Nurse.

"Be it ordained, by the board of commissioners of the city of Waco: "Section 1. That there be and is hereby created the position of public health nurse in the city of Waco, whose term of office, salary, duties and qualifications shall be as are hereinafter set out.

"Section 2. That there be and is hereby created an advisory board, who shall be appointed, and whose duties shall be as follows, to-wit:

"(a) Said board shall consist of seven (7) members, one of whom shall be the city physician, and who shall be ex-officio chairman of said board; the other six members thereof shall be appointed as follows: Two members shall be appointed by the McLennan County Medical association, and two members by the City Federation of Women's clubs, and two members by the City Federation of Missions, provided said appointees are to be approved by the board of commissioners.

"(c) Said appointees shall hold office for two years after appointment; provided, however, that three members of said board, one from the Medical society, one from the City Federation of Women's clubs and one from the Federation of Missions, shall retire at the end of the first year, those retiring to be determined by lot and the respective organizations shall appoint their successors, who shall hold office for two years from the date of appointment.

"(d) Provided, further, that the members of said advisory board shall serve without pay.

"Section 3. Said position of public health nurse shall be filled by the board of commissioners, upon the nomination and recommendation of said advisory board.

"Section 4. Said appointment of public health nurse shall hold from month to month at discretion of the board of commissioners, at a salary at the rate of $100 a month.

Duties Defined.

"Section 5. The public health nurse shall perform such duties as shall be required by the advisory board, and under the immediate direction of the city physician, with a view of caring for the indigent sick of the city, the improvement of their sanitary conditions and performing the usual duties of a public health nurse.

"(b) The person appointed to the position of public health nurse shall be a graduate nurse from some regular institution, who has had special training along the lines of public health nursing.

"Section 6. The public health nurse shall wear a uniform and badge designating the position held, shall perform faithfully and diligently the duties assigned by the city physician and advisory board, shall make a full and complete report of each case attended and of all duties performed, shall file said report with the city physician at the end of each month, and the city physician shall deliver said report to the advisory board, who shall meet regularly once in each month for the purpose of receiving and considering said reports.

"Section 7. The city physician and advisory board shall report to the city commission any delinquency or insubordination on the part of said nurse, and shall make regular monthly reports to the city commission of the work done by said nurse.

"Passed March 22, 1915."

The above ordinance was vetoed by the mayor on March 31, 1915, and passed over said veto by the board of commissioners on April 5, 1915.

Burglary at West.
West, April 6.—The grocery store of John S. Hruska was broken into last night and large quantities of groceries taken. Entrance was effected through a back window and then the back door was opened through which the groceries were hauled out. There was some cash in the register, but it was not taken. No arrests have been made.

Houston Trade Trip.
Houston, Tex., April 6.—About seventy-five of Houston's leading business men awoke on a special train in the Rio Grande valley this morning, where the remainder of the week will be spent in hunting for increased commercial relations.

To the Memory of Mrs. Debby Fortune

"He giveth His beloved sleep."
After an acquaintance and friendship of more than fifteen years, I've bid adieu to a friend, a true and loyal friend; but why should we weep or our hearts be heavy, when she has said,

"Shed not for me the bitter tears,
Nor pine with vain regret;
'Tis but the casement that lies here,
The gem is sparkling yet."

She had known for some time that her days were numbered, but she was not afraid, and talked freely to me of her going. She selected the songs that she wished sung at the funeral services and even the form of the services; told her beloved pastor that she was perfectly satisfied. No pain nor suffering distracted her last days. For four weeks we could see that she was quietly slipping away, and we watched so anxiously, but her going was so gentle that we hardly knew when she left us.

She spent her life for others. The last time she left her home she went to see a sick friend. She loved the church and Sunday school; was always in her place unless sickness prevented. For years we had gone together. Now I'll miss her so. No more will she call to me, "Are you ready?" I realize now more than ever that another call will come to me and I sincerely hope that I may be ready and waiting, and that the going will have no more terror for me than I had for her. To her loved ones I would say, weep not. I know that for a while we must go on without her, but if we are faithful and true, when the Lord comes to make up His jewels, then we will all be reunited in the land where there's no more sorrow, pain nor death. A FRIEND.

O. C. Payne of Dallas Here to Examine County Road System

O. C. Payne, associate editor of Farm and Ranch, Dallas, arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and will spend today looking into the new road system of this county and especially the system of road maintenance which was recently put into operation by R. J. Windrow, county road superintendent.

Mr. Payne, who has made an extensive study of many of the rural problems of Texas, is convinced that the problem of road maintenance is one of the most pressing and is anxious to learn what this county is doing to meet the situation.
